U.S. BOMBERS ATTACK EUROPE

War-Sobered City to Mark 'Sanest' 4th

BIG FIREWORKS SHOW TO KEEP FOLKS AT HOME

Fairground Celebration and Tire Problem Expected To Reduce Accidents.

PROGRAM STARTS AT 3

Afternoon, Evening Events to Be Capped by Pyrotechnic Display at 9:45.

War-sobered Mansfielders today joined the millions of freedom-loving Americans scattered throughout the world in the observance of the nation's 166th Independence day.

A fireworks show tonight at the fairground and the realization that tires and gasoline must be saved to help win the war were expected to keep many Mansfield residents from making their customary Fourth of July trips out of the city.

Some of the city's major industries, like those in other parts of the war-conscious nation, continued operations as usual, so there would be no halt in the production of materials necessary to the war effort. The Westinghouse, Ohio Brass, and Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company plants worked throughout the day.

That was not only the story in Mansfield — throughout Ohio, throughout the nation and throughout the United Nations the wheels of factories keep turning out weapons of death. On the far-flung battlefields of the war, American soldiers and sailors and airmen were in the fight to keep July 4 what it is—an anniversary of American independence.

In England, China, Australia, Ireland, Mexico, Ecuador, Cuba and other distant places, Old Glory was saluted and cheered as celebrations were held.

Australians, with a 24-hour head start on the United States because of the time difference, pitched in with the Yanks down under in sporting events, dances, contests and oratory.

At Canberra, Australia, Nelson Johnson, U. S. minister, laid the cornerstone of a $300,000 American legation building and said the project signified the faith the United States has in Australia.

The president of Ecuador decreed a July 4 celebration as a friendly gesture toward the Unti-

200 Airmen Will Fly Here Sunday For CAP Meeting

Plans were completed today by the Civil Air Patrol for entertaining some 200 airmen who are expected to gather at municipal airport tomorrow for an inter-squadron round-up.

Uniformed patrolmen from the 10-county area, which has its headquarters at the port, will fly here for an "early bird" breakfast to be given at 7 a. m. by the Mansfield squadron.

The dawn fliers will represent CAP squadrons based at Marion, Wooster, Sandusky and Lorain, in what is expected to be the largest assemblage of planes ever to gather here.

Climaxing the meeting will be an inter-squadron bombing contest and message pick-up demonstration.

TALKS TOO MUCH

Governor Spoils His Movie Debut With Trite Remark.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Governor Homer M. Adkins was slightly nonplussed at his motion picture debut.

Principal figure in a state defense council educational film, Adkins spoke his piece as the sound cameras rolled, then stepped back, mopped his brow, and came up with that old remark: "I hope I didn't break the camera."

Filming of the picture had to be stopped when the camera almost simultaneously burned out a bearing.

AUTO RACES BANNED

WASHINGTON—(AP)—All automobile and motorcycle racing has been banned effective July 10 to save tires. About 1,000 midget racers and 500 large cars are affected by the order.

All's Well Now, Budget Grief Over

Officials Rush Around Desperately, Remedy Series of Errors.

Just by the skin of its teeth—and no more — Mansfield's city budget request for 1943 will be ready for public hearing on July 15.

That may not be a startling statement (except those who are required to—hardly anyone ever goes to a budget hearing), but it caused enough flurry and excitement at City building yesterday to warrant telling about it.

The uproar developed rather suddenly—after Thursday night's finance committee meeting, at which the total request was hiked by some $47,000, for a number of complicated reasons.

The first thing that came to the attention of the administration, which seemingly was previously unaware of the precarious situation its fund request was in, was that someone had forgotten to deliver two copies of the budget to City Auditor Paul L. Kelley. State law requires that Kelley get two copies for public inspection at least 10 days before a public hearing.

The next problem was where to get the copies? The finance committee of council met Thursday night and corrected budget copies would have to be made immediately.

A draft call was sounded and the services of several city employes who drift in and out of the mayor's offices were mobilized. The mayor's secretaries went to work in getting together the materials and preparing master mimeograph copies.

Ray Hines, city roof drainage inspector, was taken away from his desk and put at the crank of the mimeograph machine. The two copies needed to file with Kelley were rushed to his office.

The real reason for the sudden hurry was that it had also been learned that without delivery of these copies, a public notice published today concerning the public hearing would have been void.

City Solicitor Leslie K. Wagner told Mayor W. J. Locke that a notice published by the mayor last week was illegal and that two copies of the budget must be delivered to Kelley before another notice could be made.

Time was an important factor. State law requires that the budget be passed by council by July

SEVEN DROWN

Five Children, 2 Workmen Lose Lives In Water.

(By Associated Press)

Five children and two carnival workers drowned while bathing in Ohio pools, lakes and streams yesterday.

Harry Lee Brown, 10, and his five-year-old brother, Eugene, both of Wellington, slipped off a rock and were drowned in a river at Cascade park, Elyria.

Junior Marsden of Birmingham, Ala., and "Red" McGinnis of Nashville, Tenn., carnival workmen, drowned in Springfield lake at Akron.

Russell Cobb, 10, was drowned in Garfield park swimming pool in Cleveland, and Bruce Balmer, 15, perished in Lake Erie.

In Columbus, Edna L. Sunderland, 15, lost her life in Alum creek.

U. S. Expands Naval and Military Installations in Britain.

LONDON—(AP)—Further expansion of United States naval and military bases in Britain is reliably reported under way, primarily for use in 1943.

Material has been allocated for construction of three naval bases in addition to the large new repair and supply center recently disclosed to be in operation at Londonderry, northern Ireland, for American warships on convoy duty.

Board Agrees to Call Off Fair for at Least a Year

Richland county's 1942 fair has been called off in the interest of the nation's wartime rubber and transportation conservation program.

Meeting Friday night in special session at the courthouse, 14 members of the Richland County Agricultural society, sponsor of the fair, voted unanimously to cancel this year's fair. They agreed to keep the organization intact with a view to resuming the fairs when possible, however.

The session last night was harmonious and little sentiment was voiced in favor of the fair. A. W. Strater, treasurer of the fair board, who said early in the meeting he wanted to hold the fair this year, later urged that the organization vote unanimously to cancel it.

C. C. Hout, board chairman, sent a telegram this morning to Joseph E. Eastman, national defense transportation director, telling him that the board was "showing its patriotism by complying with your request that fairs and other unnecessary meetings be postponed."

Before voting to call off the fair, members of the society had been assured by John T. Brown, state agriculture director, that the board will be eligible to receive its funds as usual from the county commissioners if the society retains a membership of 30 or more and holds its annual meetings.

Members of the fair board suggested last night that the funds from the county be used to retire

URGES ELECTION

Tugwell Suggests Puerto Rico Pick Own Governor.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Governor Rexford Guy Tugwell has recommended to President Roosevelt that Puerto Rico be granted the right to elect a governor from among its own people, his associates said today.

This would be a step toward ultimate statehood or independence.

Tugwell was reported to have suggested the move as a practical demonstration of his country's intention to carry out the Atlantic charter's guarantees of political freedom for all peoples after this war.

The Tugwell proposal was reported to have advocated the first election for governor in 1944, unless war conditions made a delay advisable. Tugwell would remain governor until then.

Since this country took the island from Spain in 1898 governors of Puerto Rico have been appointed by the president.

SUGAR BONUS

July-August Rations For Country To Be 2 Pounds Higher.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Ration card holders will get a two-pound sugar bonus in the July-August period because shipments of sugar into the country were somewhat larger than expected.

The extra two pounds may be bought any time between July 10 and Aug. 22 upon presentation of Coupon No. 7. Originally Coupon 7 was for use beginning Aug. 22. Under the bonus, No. 8 will come into use on that day.

SEEK 94 MORE TONS OF RUBBER

County Collectors Reach First Goal, Now Aim For Eight Pounds Per Capita.

With the original quota of 200 tons of scrap rubber in Richland county already collected, C. L. Hartenfels, chairman of the county drive, announced last night that an intensive effort would be made in the next week to gather up an additional 188,000 pounds, or 94 tons.

Collections yesterday brought the total officially reported to 397,323 pounds, Hartenfels announced. Several small collections not yet reported will swell that total to 400,000 pounds—the 200 tons the county originally had as its goal.

However, local committees conducting the drive have been urged to try for a per capita collection of eight pounds. The Richland county total to date

How About Mail for the AEF's?

With the 37th Division safe in an overseas port, more Mansfielders than ever are going to be sending letters and parcels to relatives on war fronts abroad. They can speed service on overseas mail by learning regulations on size and weight.

Tomorrow The News-Journal brings you a concise resume of those regulations along with a story on the surprising effect the war has had on mail going through the Mansfield post-office.

U. S. 'FUEHRER' BEING HELD IN MEXICAN JAIL

FBI Says Return of Bundist To Face Indictment Will Be Sought.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

Gerhard Kunze Accused of Plotting to Aid Nazis, Japan.

(By Associated Press)

NEW HAVEN, Conn—The tall, dark, acting "fuehrer" of the German-American bund, Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, whom a federal grand jury in Hartford charges plotted to aid Germany and Japan by furnishing them with United States military information, today was being held, FBI officials said, in a Mexican jail.

The arrest of Kunze, a self-described "third-generation American aiming for the establishment of a white man's United States," was disclosed here and in Washington by Federal Bureau of Investigation heads who declared it could be safely assumed that steps would be taken to return the national bund leader to this country.

(In Mexico City, Police Chief Gen. Miguel Z. Martinez said a man believed to be Kunze was arrested in a small coastal town near the gulf port of Vera Cruz, where two Mexican tankers were torpedoed last week. Police agents who were shown a clear picture of Kunze declared: "That's the man," but Martinez would not officially commit himself.

(The Mexican police were reserved about the whole case because, it was learned, they had evidence the man they seized has been in contact with a number of German agents operating in Mexico.)

Kunze, Anastase Vonsiatsky, head of the all-Russian Fascist party, and three others were indicted in Hartford by a federal grand jury on June 10 on a charge of conspiracy to violate the 1917 espionage act by furnishing military and defense information to the chief Axis members.

Indicted with these two were Dr. Otto Willumeit, head of the Chicago division of the German-American bund; Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, El Paso, Tex., physician and the Rev. Kurt B. Mohlzahn, Phila-

DOUBTS ATTACK

Chinese General Says Japs Won't Invade Siberia.

CHUNGKING—(AP)—The possibility of a Japanese attack on Siberia or India was discounted today by Gen. Li Tsung-Jen, one of China's ablest military leaders, who expressed belief that Japan's immediate objective was Australia.

"Japan's main purpose is to seize sufficient resources to solve her internal difficulties," Li said in an interview. "Therefore she will continue her advance southward in the hope of winning Australia. It won't pay her at present to attack Russia."

Li expressed doubt, moreover, that Japan could spare sufficent troops from other theaters to launch a Siberian campaign.

The court granted the plea and directed the probation officer to see him through induction.

6 Planes Blast Targets; Axis On Defensive

British Strike at Enemy In Egypt; Capture Guns And Prisoners

(By International News Service)

CAIRO—The British were on the offensive today in Egypt for the first time since the Axis desert army crashed over the Libyan border in its drive on Alexandria and Suez.

The imperial Eighth army attacked west and south of El Alamein but Nazi Field Marshal Erwin Rommel withdrew his forces in an effort to avoid contact.

Great reinforcements of American "General Grant" tanks have arrived in Egypt and are being rushed to the battlefront by huge American made tank transporters. Each of these monster 32-wheel tractors can convoy 17 "General Grants."

Arrival of the tank reinforcements from the United States was one of the factors which has helped turn the tide against Rommel.

Following the repulse yesterday of his assaults on the British defense positions, approximately 70 miles west of Alexandria, Rommel withdrew his tank and armored units three to four miles from the battle line to regroup for a new attack.

But Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck, commanding the Eighth army, gave his opponent no time to reorganize his forces. British tank patrols fanned out from El Alamien to harass the retreating foe. Furious battles were reported raging over the whole area on the 35-mile line between El Alamein and the Qattara depression, the marsh area which protects the British left flank.

There was no indication that the British offensive yet was on a major scale. The heaviest fighting was reported to be in the coastal area near El Alamein. In this northern sector of the bottleneck desert passage the British knocked out several Axis gun positions and took a number of prisoners.

The Eighth army, reinforced with men and materiel rushed up

Two Planes Missing After Daylight Raid on Area Held by Nazis

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Six United States bombers attacked targets in German occupied territory today with a loss of two planes, U. S. Army headquarters announced.

The text of communique No. 1 by headquarters of the European theater of operations of the U. S. Army:

"In joint operation with RAF light bombers, six American air crews attacked targets in German-occupied territory today.

"Two American planes are missing.

"The American crews flew A-20A type aircraft (Douglas Bostons) in a daylight, minimum-altitude attack."

The Douglas A-20A is a light attack bomber, the United States Army's version of the DB-7A which is supplied to the British and which they call the "Boston."

It is a three-seat mid-wing monoplane powered by two Wright double-row "Cyclone" engines. Its weight, loaded, is 19,050 pounds. No data on performance are available.

Allied Bombers Smash At Lae Airdrome

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia—(AP)—Allied bombers, beating off 12 Japanese fighter planes which attempted to intercept them, successfully attacked the airdrome at Lae in New Guinea yesterday, plastering the runway with heavy bombs, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Other Allied planes simultaneously carried out a light raid on the Japanese air base at Koepang, former capital of Dutch Timor, a communique said.

Six Japanese fighters were reported intercepted over Port Moresby, New Guinea, and driven off by Allied air patrols.

ADMISSION: Nazis Begin to Tell People of Damage by RAF

(By Associated Press)

BERN, Switzerland—Germany, relaxing a strict press censorship, finally is beginning to tell her people of the damage caused by repeated RAF raids on the Rhineland and Ruhr districts in three years of war, especially the mass raids of 1942.

Hitherto, German accounts were confined chiefly to newspapers in the areas concerned, but since the bombing of Cologne, papers throughout the country have taken up the discussion.

Foreign correspondents in Berlin were requested not to report one article which appeared in Berlin under the title "Crime Against Cologne."

The articles, by stressing the necessity for preparedness, implied that Germany expected continued heavier raids in a British effort, as the Munich Nachrichten said, "to destroy the economy of the industrial heart of the reich."

An Essen paper urged workers to persevere if "weapons are to roll towards the front, now as before, from the Rhine and Ruhr district, arms center and traffic division point of the reich."

This paper said there had been 10,000 raids on Germany, that some towns had had more than 300 alarms and that some had experienced alarms on 36 successive nights.

The National Zeitung of Essen acknowledged "considerable" damage to dwellings and other civilian

SINKINGS: U. S. Ship Attacked At Dock as Toll Reaches 335

(By Associated Press)

With Hitler's promised unrestricted U-boat campaign against United Nations' shipping in its second week, the unofficial Associated Press tabulation of Allied and neutral losses in the western Atlantic reached 335 today.

At least 77 lives were lost—54 burned to death, 23 killed in blasts—in three sinkings announced yesterday. Two of the vessels went down in the Caribbean, one in the Gulf of Mexico.

Twenty-three workmen were reported lost in a daring attack on an American freighter unloading at Puerto Limon, Costa Rica, 220 miles northwest of the Panama canal. An enemy submarine sneaked into the port and sent three fatal torpedoes into the ship.

The 23 killed were trapped in the hold.

The ship was attacked only two hours after docking and sank within an hour, but her upper deck remained above the surface of the shallow harbor. Another submarine put two torpedoes into a little unarmed Latvian vessel in the Caribbean June 14, causing explosions and flames that killed 21 of a 38-man crew, survivors related at a gulf coast port.

The skipper of a medium-sized British cargo ship reported at another gulf port that 33 of his 47 British crewmen were killed June

THE WAR TODAY

(By Associated Press)

LANSING, Mich. — A nation at war had from Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell today a warning that "a grim and brutal task lies ahead" in fighting an enemy from whom "we've taken a terrific shellacking all around the globe."

Declaring that there is "entirely too much optimism about the ease with which we'll win this war," Somervell, chief of the army's service of supply, told a group of Michigan industrialists last night.

"The public does not realize what a grim and brutal task lies ahead. This is no football game. We're fighting a fight where there are no holds barred. Every mother's son of us has got to get in there and pitch. It's appalling what we still have to do."

Gen. Somervell said he was "thrilled" by the magnitude of Michigan's war production facilities but added:

"Until they show me that the United States army has everything it needs, I don't want anyone coming around me and bragging about production. We must have more production per machine, more production per man, and more production per factory. I am convinced that the average factory in the United States is "capable of producing more—much more.

"The things that yet have to be done are appalling. You can't win today's battles with tomorrow's weapons."

After visiting a gun plant in which, he said, production had been slowed down because of lack of steel, Somervell said:

"Steel is one of the bottlenecks, but we've a whole cellarfull of bottles. However, the ingenious application of American industry and intelligence will get rid of these bottlenecks, but we've got to work to do it.

"So far, we've lost a lot of nearly everything but our sense of smugness and smugness never won a war or neither did wishful thinking. We can't win this one with boastful headlines or with slogans or alibis or threats or promises."

Asked at a press conference if the United States had a weapon comparable to the 88-millimeter anti-tank cannon used by Germany, Gen. Somervell said in language that amounted to:

"We have that weapon.

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

Manhattan Nights.

Kilgallen

"Somewhere in the city"—not on Broadway, but not too far from it—there is a show going on that Variety will never review and that you will never see, yet it is the reason why you can sleep quietly at night without fear and walk about the city in the daytime not even looking up when a plane roars above you in the sky.

It is a fine show, so fine it is too bad you cannot see it and applaud it, but I can tell you something about it and about the girls who work in it, for I have seen it and I know some of the girls. Many of them are a part of Broadway; I mean, they come from Broadway, or they come to Broadway in their few spare hours to dance and see the shows in their well-earned playtime.

They are the girls of the First Fighter Command. They are the first line of defense of these shores, for the Fighter Command is the branch of the U. S. Army Air Force that guards our coastline from Maine to Florida, and the territory inland to the Great Lakes. Under its control and supervision, more than 1,000 women, volunteers work in the New York Information Center (location a military secret) charting the flight of every plane from reports of observation posts no more than six miles apart throughout this entire area.

They wear no uniforms, get no glory. They come from all walks of life. They are actresses, mothers, career girls. They are part of the heart of America at war.

Let's take Dolly De Bilhau first, because if you get around much in the night club sector you probably have seen her, small, white-skinned, black-haired, pretty brown eyes behind dark-lensed harlequin glasses, dashing somewhere in a great hurry. She is press agent for the Stork club — a tribute to her ability, for the Stork club is the biggest night club job in town —and of course this means that she toils in the late hours; but once a week she slips away from cafe society and the rhumba bands at midnight and goes to the Information Center of the First Fighter Command, where she works until 8 in the morning. She's been doing this, quietly, for some months now; she'll continue to do it until she's replaced by a well-trained WAAC.

A New Yorker born, Dolly made her debut on Long Island several years ago; but she's not constitutionally suited to staying a debutante, so she embarked on a career. She has been an advertising copy-writer and a stylist as well as publicity agent.

At the Information Center, she's a "teller," which means that wearing head-phones and sitting on a balcony overlooking a huge map, she reports what she sees below her to another room in which officers of the First Fighter Command are ready, willing and eager to act upon it.

Lee Russell is Wisconsin's gift to New York and the Information Center. Born in Eau Claire, she attended school there, became a teacher, and, after several seasons of school-maarming, decided to find a more adventurous career in New York. Now she writes the monthly feature, "Fashions in Magazine.

A friend who was working at the Information Center told her of the need for volunteers in December, and she enrolled immediately. She has been serving there ever since on Saturday and Sunday afternoons (the daytime shifts need workers most urgently), looking tall, dark and attractive and dressed the way you'd expect a fashion editor to dress.

Lee serves as a "plotter"—one of the women who sit with headphones on before the huge table-map and receive the reports of plane flights from the various observation posts.

With her sister working in a defense factory, and her mother Antoinette Perry, devoting every spare moment to the American Theater Wing, Elaine Perry decided she wanted to do more for her country than entertain the soldiers at the Stage Door Canteen—so in January she started working at the Information Center, where she covers the dog watch from midnight to 4 a. m. two nights a week. She finds it even more exciting than the opening night of a play.

Elaine is red-haired, in her early twenties, and an actress of considerable ability, although at the moment being part of "the first line of defense" seems more important to her than being behind footlights.

She is a "raid clerk"—a girl who checks the identity of every plane with the liaison officers of the Army, Navy, Bomber Command and Civil Aeronautics Authority. Should all of these fail to identify the plane, it would be her job to notify the Controller, who would signal our defensive and offensive forces into action.

TINY U. S. AIR FORCE IN CHINA RELIES ON ZIP

Faces Big Job of Aiding Chiang's Armies and Regaining Bases.

(By United Press)

CHUNGKING—A small United States army air force faces a series of tremendously difficult tasks in China but everyone here believes it has enough "punch and zip" to inflict serious losses on the Japanese and perhaps force the invaders to divert naval units needed in other sectors.

The American airmen will support Chinese land troops in preventing further Japanese encroachments and, if possible, regain the "bomb Tokyo" air bases of eastern China.

Both Col. Caleb V. Haynes, commander of the bomber group in China, and Col. Robert L. Scott, commander of the pursuit group, are known as daring but cool headed fliers and, according to airmen who know, they have implicate faith in their pilots.

The American Volunteer group, incorporated into the U. S. army in China today, established a record for daring exploits in Burma, Indo-China and Thailand—rapid thrusting knockout attacks on Japanese bases and defiant strafing of heavily defended Japanese advance positions.

Both Scott and Haynes are familiar with these offensive tactics. They, too, like Brig. Gen. Claire L. Chennault, former leader of the AVG who likely will remain in China as commanding officer of the air forces, encourage individual initiative as opposed to the Axis aerial combat technique of radio-directed, leader-dictated attack.

It was this concept, drilled into the hand-picked fliers of the AVG, that enabled them to out-fight, out-maneuver and out-think the Japanese airmen even when outnumbered. It likely will be this technique which will give the U. S. airmen superiority in China.

With these three men in command and the dare-devil AVG's forming the spearhead of the pursuit group, it is anticipated that the Japanese often will find themselves in a difficult position since China offers a wide field for the individualistic thrusts that the American fliers enjoy.

These guerrilla-like American air raids will be enhanced by the ample air fields in various strategic centers controlled by the Chinese.

Some of the well informed military men here believe that the American fliers will force the Japanese to withdraw some of their best naval units from the South Seas or else suffer heavy loses since this far they have not uncovered any exceptional aerial fighting strength anywhere in China.

NEW PHYSICIAN

Dr. A. J. Cole Becomes Resident Doctor at Hospital.

Formerly house doctor at Purdue university, Dr. A. J. Cole, has taken over duties as resident physician at Mansfield General hospital replacing Dr. Robert Berkebile who entered Army service recently.

A native of Norfolk, Va., Dr. Cole graduated from medical school at the University of Virginia and served a residency at Burlington county hospital in Mt. Holly, N. J., in 1940.

Dr. Cole came here from Purdue university at Lafayette, Ind., where he served as a physician in the student health service.

Dr. Berkebile, whom Cole replaced, was among the first of the ever-increasing number of Mansfield doctors and dentists to accept army commissions. Berkebile is now stationed at Camp Bowie, Tex.

Grandmother Sentenced For Slaying of Neighbor; Body Found In Trunk.

(By Associated Press)

ATLANTA — Mrs. Minnie Lee Griffin, 49-years-old and a grandmother, was under sentence today to pay with her life for the killing of a comely 20-year-old neighbor.

The frail woman calmly sat through the trial and as calmly heard the court sentence her yesterday to die in the electric chair August 7 for the death of Mrs. Mildred Williams, shoestore clerk whose disappearance of several months was solved only after her body was found crammed in an old trunk in Mrs. Griffin's basement.

Should the sentence be carried out, Mrs. Griffin would be the first woman to be electrocuted in Georgia, and the second one to undergo capital punishment. The only other woman against whom a death sentence has been carried out in the state died by hanging in 1870.

Mrs. Griffin's attorneys have filed a motion for a new trial with the convicting court, Fulton county (Atlanta) superior court.

The defense was based on a plea of counsel that the woman was of unsound mind, but psychiatrists differed in their testimony, one holding her a victim of halucinations, and another declaring her "just a very mean woman."

Defense testimony also was offered that she was obsessed with a suspicion that her daughter's husband, Kenneth Hubert, "was running around with Mrs. Williams," and that Mrs. Williams would break up her daughter's marriage.

When the court pronounced sentence, Mrs. Griffin's 16-year-old son, J. W. Griffin, fainted. Two other sons and her son-in-law, Hubert, sat white faced. Mrs. Griffin said nothing.

Terrier Shot In Head as She Leaps To Save Master

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Her name is Mickey. She is a bull terrier, five years old.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Shuck think she is the gravest dog they ever heard of.

Yesterday a prowler entered the Shuck residence. Mrs. Shuck said she and her husband heard the man, but thought he was a roomer. But Mickey started to growl as the man entered the bedroom.

"My husband started to ask the man what he was doing in the house, when he whipped out a pistol and aimed it at my husband's head from a distance of several feet," said the dog's mistress.

"At the same instant Mickey made a leap, and it was she who received the bullet instead of one of us."

The prowler fled, and could not be found.

A veterinarian worked over Mickey for two hours. He has hopes she will recover.

Columbus Officer Assigned to River Emergency Job.

CINCINNATI —(AP)— Major B. F. Hatch has been assigned to the Columbus office of the Ohio river division of the U. S. Engineers corps, Col. Charles L. Hall, division engineer in charge, announced today.

Hatch succeeds Lieut. Col. B. F. Vandervoort, transferred here last week, but functions of the Columbus office have been reduced.

GIRL SCOUTS TO CLEAR CAMP SITE OF BRUSH, STAKE CLAIMS

Mansfield Girl Scouts will start their camping season this year by doing a little pioneering.

When they reach Averill's woods Tuesday at 9:30 a. m. to begin a six-day camping period they will clear away the underbrush from their prospective unit homes, build caches for food and stake out their respective claims before launching upon any other recreational program

The 100 campers will be divided into five units according to age and the activities of each unit will be supervised by two camp counselors. The scouts themselves will map the daily program they wish to follow.

Camp will be held twice weekly, Tuesdays and Thursdays, between 9:30 and 3:30 p. m. and the program will include camp crafts, nature study, hiking, folk dancing, dramatics and outdoor cookery as well as various sports.

Lunch the opening day will be in the form of a picnic and thereafter will be cooked by each of the units.

Transportation is left to the scout troop or individual and the girls expect to rely on private cars, buses and bicycles to convey them to the camp site.

One group of 25 has arranged with the Mansfield Rapid Transit company to furnish transportation from Fourth and Main streets to Lumbermens Heights. The camp is only a short distance from there.

Miss Eleanor Bond, Girl Scout executive secretary, will head activities at the camp and the counselor staff will include Mrs. Clay Lutz, Mrs. K. E. Buhr, Miss Helen McCauslin, Miss Rosemary Massa, Mrs. Alvin Kreig, Miss Janis Carter, Mrs. F. H. McDowell, Miss Dorothy Gump, Miss Ellena Percy and Miss Margaret Gage. Mrs. Louis Lamoreux is chairman of the camp committee.

OFFICE OPEN

Navy Recruiters Remain Open For Applications Today.

The naval recruiting station in the Mansfield postoffice building will be open today despite the holiday to accept applications for entry into the navy, W. G. Cox, naval recruiting officer, announced yesterday.

Cox said that regular office hours from 8 a. m. to 8 p. m. will be observed and that youths wishing information on navy service may apply at the office.

Cox estimated that next week's class of recruits will be the largest since January when more than 80 youths left Mansfield. At least 35 have signed up for the latest class and Cox hopes to have several more recruits before Wednesday.

The recruiting officer said that because of the need for every recruit the navy can get that his office will observe no holiday.

TRIED OLD ONE, BUT IT WORKED

Driver Offers Excuse Surprised to Find It's Really So.

ST. LOUIS —(AP)— The police have a new one for the records.

A driver asserted he couldn't avoid a streetcar which backed into his automobile because the car back of him wouldn't move. The policeman, having heard that one before, was surprised to find the second machine actually was there.

The driver was astonished, too. The second car was empty—and locked bumper-to-bumper with his vehicle.

SEES CHANGED POST-WAR ERA

Kettering Predicts Great Transition In Next 50 Years.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— America must be prepared through education for a radically changed post-war world, asserts Charles F. Kettering, vice president in charge of research for General Motors Corp.

"We must recognize there will be greater changes than ever before in the next 50 years," he told the Cleveland Chamber of Commerce yesterday. "We must shape time and human events before they get us into more wars.

"We should look at things in terms of not how much we know but how much we can learn. We should quit studying history and start to make it. Too much education seems to make us see how we can't do things instead of how we can do them."

DOG WINS

'Character Witnesses' Prove to Court He's Gentle Cur.

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — Gust Portias, a restaurant employe, said the dog bit him. But character witnesses said the pet just wasn't that kind of a dog. Louis Ramirez, the animals owner, asked his neighbors for support against Portias' $500 damage suit.

Judge Paul A. Buzard heard a parade of witnesses describe the pet's character as gentle, and returned a decision for the defendant.

TRAIN AIR COMMANDOS

COLUMBUS —(ANS)— The U. S. army air corps will begin training "commandos of the air" Monday morning at the huge new Lockbourne glider base near Groveport.

BARKLEY SEES MEANS OF AID AMID DISPUTE

Urges Resolution Pending Outcome of Row Over Government Wheat.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Majority Leader Barkley indicated today that the senate would try to get money for the agriculture department by a resolution pending settlement of a dispute with the house over the annual appropriation bill.

Farm state senators hinted strongly that a substitute farm bill passed hastily by the house Thursday might be allowed to die in the senate appropriations committee. Senator Russell (D-Ga), floor manager for the farm fund, openly labeled the house action "unfair" and "almost contemptible" to the senate.

Barkley said congress should pass a simple resolution continuing last year's appropriations temporarily because "the department can't operate indefinitely without funds."

It has had none since the old fiscal year ended Tuesday midnight without agreement on the farm bill. Secretary Wickard and his aides began to wonder if the dispute would be settled in time to permit issuance of regular fortnightly paychecks to employes Wednesday.

With forty-odd senators absent from the capital over Independence day, it was difficult to determine how the controversy might be affected by President Roosevelt's letter to farm, labor and religious leaders calling for a speedy settlement.

The chief executive told them it was essential that the government be given the right to sell part of the wheat it holds at less than parity prices, as livestock feed. This is one of the chief points in dispute between the two houses. The senate voted to permit the sale of 125,000,000 bushels of government-held wheat at not less than 85 per cent of the parity price of corn, or about 83 cents.

The 99-page bill passed Thursday by the house prohibited use of any of the funds for administration expenses in connection with the sale of any government-held farm commodities at sub-parity prices.

The senate likewise has backed the president in his insistence that soil conservation payments to farmers be added to the market return on a crop before computing parity payments. Parity payments are government grants made to bring the purchasing power of farm produce up to the level of a stipulated previous period, in most cases 1909-14.

Senator Norris (Ind-Neb) commented that the president's letter seemed to leave the next move up to the house. He said he was convinced the senate stand on parity was "absolutely right."

Senator Ellender (D-La) agreed that Mr. Roosevelt had put the question "squarely up to the house." The Louisianan said it would be a "Godsend" to dispose of some of the surplus grain as livestock feed.

UP AND DOWN THE STREET

Draft Board No. 1, which yesterday mailed out 3,000 occupational questionnaires to its registrants in the 45-to-65 year bracket, was swamped with phone calls yesterday from wives reporting their husbands were out of the city and wondering what they could do about the questionnaires. Todd J. Patton, clerk of the board, pointed out that the registrants have 10 days to get these forms back to the board office.

J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings in the Mansfield school system, is rapidly gaining a reputation as the hardiest golfer in these parts. Earl Robinson saw him in a west-end store during yesterday afternoon's rain, wind and HAIL storm. "Wait an hour and the sun will be shining and we can play some golf," said Robinson. "Why wait?" said Moke, "I'm on my way right now." And away he went.

Next week will be a big one in the lives of 12 members of the Richland county Lamplighters' council, an organization for the blind. They will go to Greter's lake for their second annual camping trip. Although most of them are sightless, they swim, boat, and play games at the resort west of the city just as any other vacationist would do. Sheriff Frank E. Robinson and John Hess, sales tax examiner, will provide transportation for the group.

Mansfielders have been hearing quite a bit about synthetic rubber since tire rationing became one of the main topics of the day and some of them heard more about it during the visit of a former Mansfielder here this week. Clyde Stone, son of Mrs. Emma Stone, 187 South Mulberry street, is to be the chief auditor of the new $50,000,000 synthetic rubber plant now being built at Beaumont, Texas, by the Lummus company. Stone stopped off here with his wife and Miss Rita Benoit en route to Texas from Meadville, Pa., where the Stone family has been located. Miss Benoit, formerly with the Lummus company in Massachusetts, has been transferred to the Texas office.

UP TO $14,000

Townships, Villages Report More U.S.O. Funds.

Richland county United Service Organization pushed its war fund campaign for $22,000 up to $14,000 today as five more townships and villages turned in $726.80.

Plymouth in reporting $314.40 made the largest contribution of any of the smaller communities thus far. Mrs. Stacy Brown was in charge of solicitation there and returns are still incomplete.

Contributions from Shiloh totalled $126.25; Lexington, $119.15; Perry township, $93.25, and Cass township, $73.75.

The county campaign was recently extended until July 15 to permit townships, industries and individual workers to complete solicitation.

NAME BOMBER AT CLEVELAND

Christening of Ship for MacArthur Opens July 4 Events.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Christening of the flying fortress which greater Cleveland's contributions purchased for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, and the festival of freedom are this city's main events today.

The bomber's flight over the city today preceded the christening at Cleveland airport. Mayor Frank J. Lausche is turning the craft over to the army, represented by Lieut. M. Bower of Ravenna, one of the bombers of Tokyo. The actual christening is by Mrs. Lausche, who gives the ship its name, "Spirit of Cleveland."

Tonight's free civic rally at the stadium, the festival of freedom, will be marked by a parade of visiting troops from Fort Custer and Camp Perry, mass inductions, community singing, patriotic pageants and fireworks. One of the pyrotechnic scenes will be entitled "the bombing of Tokyo."

Red Cross Given Quota to Make 96,000 Dressings

Richland county chapter of the Red Cross prepared today to increase its volunteer production corps to handle the quota of 96,000 surgical dressings for the U. S. army and 8,000 sewed garments for civilian victims in war and disaster zones recently assigned by national headquarters.

The new quota of surgical dressings that must be completed between Aug. 1 and Jan. 1, calls for a different operation than that of its predecessors, Mrs. E. M. Eichen, chairman of that phase of volunteer service, will attend a surgical dressing school in Cleveland next week to learn the procedure.

No knitted garments are included in the civilian relief quota as all knitting efforts from now on will be in behalf of the armed forces. Mrs. Leopold Adams, production chairman, expects to begin work on the new quota August 1.

Miss Lenore Van Gundia, executive secretary, said today that the garment quota was set for the entire year although changing conditions may mean an additional quota later on.

Now on leave of absence from Honolulu, Pietsch was recently appointed co-ordinator of the Gideon International program of supplying Bibles and Testaments to men in the armed forces.

'God' To Be Topic Of Lesson-Sermon

"God" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

It will have for the golden text: "There is none holy as the Lord: for there is none beside thee: neither is there any rock like our God" (I Samuel 2:2).

Included in the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon are the following correlative passages from the Bible and from the Christion Science textbook.

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine: thine is the kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all" (I Chronicles 29:11).

'DEFENSE' WILL FORM PASTOR'S SERMON THEME

Rev. Portz to Speak on Topic During Morning Service at St. Mark's Church.

Basing his sermon on the scriptural texts, Psalms 33:13 and II Corinthians 3:17, Rev. C. A. Portz will preach on "The First Line of Defense" tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. at St. Mark's Lutheran church. The choir anthem is entitled "God of Our Nation" by Wilson.

During the church service the children's church program for youngsters between the ages of 6 and 11, will be held in the basement of the church.

The church council will meet on Thursday at 8 p. m.

'Indwelling Spirit', Communion Subject

"The Indwelling Spirit" will be the Communion meditation of Rev. Albert L. Linder during the service tomorrow at 10:30 a. m., at the Park Avenue Baptist church.

Music during the service will include Gillette's "Breathe on Me, Breath of God" sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. Lawrence J. Frank, Mrs. Wayne Williams, James Keith and David Husung. Lawrence S. Frank will play three organ selections and Carol Anne Spencer will sing a solo "At Rest" by Spencer.

Scheduled next week are the Senior W. W. G. picnic, 6 p. m., Tuesday; Junior choir rehearsal, 3 p. m., Wednesday; quarterly business meeting 7:30 p. m., Thursday; and the annual church and Sunday school picnic, 4 p. m., Saturday.

Sermon, Musical Numbers Planned

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger will use "The Third Story in Life's Building" as his sermon topic tomorrow morning at the First Christian church.

Special music for the service includes a duet, "In the Hour of Trial," sung by Mrs. Bruce C. Rogers and Mrs. David Hughes, and an organ selection, Yon's "Hymn of Glory," played by Mrs. H. H. Clingan.

Fifteen of the church's young people leave tomorrow for a Youth conference at Lakeside. They are Dolores Faust, Helen Hagelbarger, Evelyn Griffith, Helen Moore, Betty Pfleiderer, Gwendolyn Rogers, Barbara Shively, Catharin Stocker, Beverly Wilburn, Naomi Zediker, Bob Bechtel, Merle McCullough, Jr., William and Richard Waibel and Joe Wilcox.

The Missionary society will hold their annual breakfast at 9:30 a. m., Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. C. J. Pittenger north of Mansfield. Program arrangements are in charge of Mrs. J. D. Wilcox. Mrs. R. S. Bemiller is president of the organization.

Gives Sermon On 'Examining Assets'

Delivering his first sermon of the new conference year, Rev. Edward G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, will speak on "Examining Our Assets" at the regular worship service tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

Junior church has been discontinued for the summer until Sept. 6; however, the nursery will continue to meet during the church hour in charge of Mrs. Denny Skelton.

Meeting at 6:30 p. m., members of the Epworth league will discuss "Freedom in Democracy" led by Ed Maxwell. Devotions will be conducted by Betty Flegal.

The Youth Bible Study class, led by Wade Pittenger, will meet at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday. The lesson will be from the first three chapters of the First Epistle of John.

Fourth of July Basis of Sermon

Rev. Charles F. Sheriff, pastor of St. Matthew's Lutheran church, will preach on "The Fourth of July—Independence and Dependence" at the regular worship service tomorrow morning.

The choir anthem is entitled "Beside Still Waters" by Hamblen and William Gross will sing the offertory, "Prayer of Thanksgiving" by Kemser.

Scheduled to meet next week are the Luther league, Sunday evening; and the Sunday school board, 7:30 p. m., Monday, at the Parish house.

Finish Vacation Bible School

Eighty-five boys and girls finished their first week of Vacation Bible school yesterday at the Mayflower Congregational church.

The school will continue for another week, terminating with graduation exercises next Friday at 7:30 p. m. The children will put on a program showing what they accomplished during the two weeks in the way of class study, worship and handicraft.

Holy Communion Service Arranged

First Congregational church will hold Holy Communion services Sunday at 8 p. m. in the Park Avenue Baptist church. There will be no service at John Simpson Junior high school.

Rev. Peter Young will speak on the topic, "The Master." Miss Geraldine Harley will sing "When I Consider Thy Heavens," Humphreys, and the choir will offer "Souls of the Righteous," by Noble.

Mrs. Kathryn Lewis, organist, will play "Melodie," Massenet; "Airioso," and "Fugue," Bach.

This will be the first time in a number of years that the church school has met in July. The Sunday service will be held at 9:30 a. m. in the parish house.

The weeks activities include a covered-dish picnic luncheon by the Women's association, Thursday, July 9, at 1 p. m. at the parish house.

'Rediscovery of Man,' Sermon Topic

"The Rediscovery of Man," has been chosen by Rev. D. N. Roller for his subject at the 10:45 a. m. service in First Presbyterian church Sunday.

A quartet composed of Miss Doris Ranck, Mrs. C. O. Anglin, Leo Hans and H. H. Clingan, will sing "The Recessional," DeKoven. The offertory, "Father Lead Me By Thy Hand." Butterfield, will be sung by a trio, Miss Ranck, Mrs. Anglin and Leo Hans.

Miss Mabel Zehner, organist, will play, "O Lord, All Glorious," Bach-Schreiner; "Piece Heroique" Franck, and "National Hymn," Best.

The week's events include a picnic by the Helping Hand Bible class at North Park Friday at noon, and a dessert luncheon Thursday at 1:30 p. m. at the home of Mrs. V. C. Ketner, 483 Lexington avenue, by Circle 3.

Ashland Pastor To Give Sermon

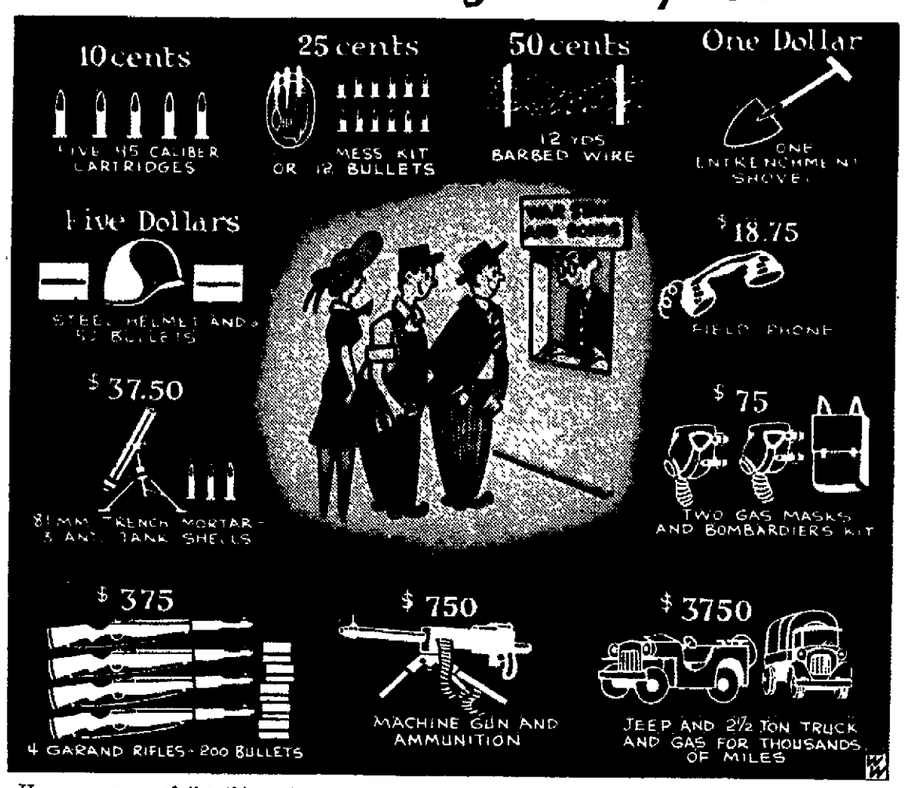
Rev. James Davis of Ashland, will be the guest speaker at the South Main Street Evangelical church Sunday at 8 p. m. while the pastor, Rev. C. L. Kern, is attending the Linwood summer assembly at Vermillion.

Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger, minister at the First Christian church, will occupy the pulpit at the 10:30 a. m. service, July 12. Rev. Kern will return for the evening service.

Guest Speaker On Sunday Program

Robert Hunter of Lima will be the guest speaker at Branch 2 of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, 278 North Main street, Sunday at 3 p. m. Special music will be a part of the service.

What War Savings Will Buy Now



Here are some of the things the government can buy for our fighting men with war savings in amounts ranging from a 10-cent stamp to a $5000 bond. For example, when you invest in a bond that will be worth $25 ten years from now, the $18.75 purchase price buys a field telephone today. The other bond prices shown are purchase costs. They all realize 25 per cent profit in 10 years.

CITY'S BUDGET GRIEF ENDING

Officials Rush Around and Finally Remedy Series Of Technical Errors.

15. Today is July 4 and publication of the notice today gives leeway of only one day.

Wagner said yesterday that one of the reasons why the "big squeeze" came for the budget was due to delay by the administration in getting department requests.

The city solicitor said that although the state law says that department requests be filed with the mayor before June 1 that the requests were not received until mid-June.

The administration has one more technicality to worry about. If someone should appear at the public hearing and cause extensive changes to be made in the budget, it could not possibly be passed before the July 15 deadline.

Usually, however, only a few changes are suggested and these are handled at the public hearing. Passage of the budget is then carried out by city council immediately following the public hearing.

BOY GETS WET CULVERT RIDE

Sucked Into Tunnel, His Only Worry's Cast on Arm.

WEST COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—Six-year-old Wilbur Joyner had a wet 160-foot excursion. The youngster, caught in a heavy rain, stepped into an open manhole. A sudden gush of rushing water sucked him into a 36-inch culvert, through which he was carried to its outlet at a small stream.

His only worry as he crawled safely to the bank was the wet cast on a broken arm from which he was convalescing.

delphia clergyman and former German army officer.

Vonsiatsky and Dr. Willumeit quickly pleaded guilty. The former was sentenced to five years in prison, while sentence of the Chicago prisoner has been deferred until after the trial of the others, slated July 15, in Hartford.

Richard H. Simons, Connecicut FBI agent who broke the news of Kunze's arrest, lauded Mexican authorities for their co-operation.

Meanwhile, Thomas J. Dodd, jr., special assistant to the United States attorney-general, said in Hartford that he was ready to go to Mexico and pointed out that Kunze, who became national leader of the bund in December, 1939, after the conviction of Fritz Kuhn in New York on theft and forgery charges, is an American citizen which will facilitate returning him to the Connecticut capital.

The grand jury indictment charged that:

"Kunze was designated to serve as the intermediary to carry information abroad and was given $2,800 for traveling expenses by Vonsiatsky, the arrangements being completed last July at a meeting in a Chicago hotel attended by Kunze, Vonsiatsky and Dr. Willumeit.

"In the meantime, Vonsiatsky was in touch with Japanese government officials to ascertain what type of information they most desired.

"The accused decided that Kunze should leave the United States by way of Mexico, and Molzahn agreed to the use of his Philadelphia address as a return address for Kunze's mail.

"Last September, Kunze and Dr. Willumeit conferred with Dr. Ebell in El Paso, and in November Kunze rejoined Dr. Ebell in El Paso and was driven by him to the city of Chihauahua, Mexico. Thereafter Kunze wrote letters to Vonsiatsky from Chihauahua in care of Dr. Ebell * * *"

Kunze refused to give his place of birth but said he lived in Camden, N. J., until 1916, and then moved to Philadelphia, where he resided 21 years. In 1937 he went to New York.

A grand jury at Newton, N. J., indicted Kunze and nine others on Oct. 10, 1940, on charges of "promoting hatred against people of the Jewish religion."

Before becoming leader of the bund, he was its national public relations director and he once headed a bund camp at Yaphank, L. I.

CAR HITS BUS

Two Injured, One Fatally; Passengers Are Shaken Up.

FORT WAYNE, Ind. —(AP)— F. G. Giesseman, about 28, of Indianapolis, died last night at an Indianapolis hospital of injuries suffered when a car in which he was riding and a Detroit-bound Greyhound bus collided eight miles east of New Haven.

George Atkinson, jr., 19, of Port Clinton, O., suffered head injuries and shock. He was reported in fair condition. Arlus Hiland, 29, of Cherurbusco, the bus driver, said a half dozen of the 28 passengers were shaken up, but resumed their trip in another bus.

He said 14 men got away in a lifeboat but men in two other lifeboats were trapped by flames. Still other members of his crew, he said, were roasted alive in their bunks.

Meanwhile, small-boat builders invited the navy to test their claim that they could make large numbers of tiny craft which would aid tremendously in battling the submarine menace.

The national organization of small boat plant owners asked Undersecretaary James V. Forrestal to order tests of a sample boat to be built at no cost to the government. A decision was withheld pending submission of the proposal to Secretary Knox.

H. Paul Prigg of Miami, Fla., president of the new organization, said specifications of the boat were secret.

He said a canvass of small-boat builders had shown there were facilities to turn out 30,000 of the boats a year with no priority problems because the craft was designed "around material easily available in unlimited quantities."

A Munich newspaper drew attention to a high command appeal, which it said was generally adhered to, asking the public not to draw conclusions as to the extent of military damage.

Other newspaper articles told the people they must avoid mass flights from bombed towns, declaring—as did the Munich Nachrichten—that this was one of the RAF objectives.

"Churchill will not succeed," the paper said.

One correspondent described how passengers on his train along the Rhine told of nights of terror under raids, but added that "the resistance and will of the population is not broken."

At home, the threat of injuries from fireworks was reduced by the new state law which prohibits the sale and use of firecrackers and display pieces except for public demonstrations such as the Mansfield Public Parks association will sponsor tonight at the fairground.

Some of the major producers of fireworks in the country have been in full war production for many months, and the supply of fireworks available for individual purchase throughout the country was practically non-existent.

Mansfield, though, will have its traditional Fourth of July fireworks show at the fairgrounds tonight, weather permitting. The Public Parks association committee which is sponsoring the fairgrounds Independence Day celebration this afternoon and evening emphasized that use of the fireworks won't cut into vital war materials or in any other way hamper the war effort.

The fireworks show is set for 9:45 p. m., at the close of a program which gets under way at 8 p. m. It is scheduled to run right through, from that hour, until about 10:30, except for a one-hour intermission period starting at 6:15 p. m.

The Senior high school band will play, the Boy Scouts will stage the flag-raising, and the mayor will speak at the opening ceremony. Scout demonstrations, games and contests will make up the rest of the afternoon program.

At 7:15 p. m., the Richland county war bond organization will present a 15-minute program, and at 7:30 a tribute to men in the armed services will be given by the Legion Drum corps, the Mansfield Legion Cadets, and the Legion Scout troop of McVey post.

The Legion ceremony will serve as an introduction to Major J. T. Lovett of the office of the chief of staff at Fort Hayes, who will speak at 7:45 p. m. on civilian defense. He will be introduced by Municipal Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch, civilian defense chairman.

A stage show, with song and dance acts, is set for 8:15, and an hour later prizes will be awarded. The fireworks display will follow.

Highway patrolmen and city policemen will be on hand to handle the crush of traffic expected in the vicinity of the fairgrounds.

In the event of inclement weather, the program will be presented at the fairgrounds on Monday evening.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 4, 1942.

'Independence' Is Worth Fighting For

AMERICA'S "declaration of independence," as it is being voiced today, marks an even more fateful moment in world history than did the original pronouncement of the thirteen colonies on July 4, 1776.

Then it was against the comparatively mild yoke of English oppression that the colonists rebelled—not the threat of utter annihilation that now hangs over all independent nations that are resisting ruthless totalitarian aggression.

It was one hundred and sixty-six years ago today that the Continental Congress, assembled in Philadelphia, proclaimed.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident—that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed . . ."

Then follows a recital of "repeated injuries and usurpations, all having, in direct object, the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states."

Yet how mild was that "tyranny," how humane those "injuries," how slight those usurpations," as compared with the horrors now being inflicted on helpless people of occupied countries by the barbarian hordes of Axis nations seeking to gain world dominance by superiority of military force.

From the small group of colonies that fearlessly moved toward independence in 1776, there has grown a great nation—the United States of America—with 130,000,000 people, unimaginable present and potential resources, and a record of achievement unequalled in world history.

Always, in this country of ours, there has been a preference for peace, and a considerate regard for the rights of other nations to pursue their own course, but on the several occasions when it has been necessary to participate in war, the United States and its people have displayed the same attributes of courage, determination and will to win that marked the conduct of their heroic forebears who founded this nation, guarded it against internal and external foes, preserved it as a union of states, and lent support to the cause of human freedom in the first World war.

Now, as a nation and as individuals, we are in an even greater testing time—a time in which the conflagration of war has extended to the greater part of the world, with enemy nations strong, arrogant and made temporarily confident by a long succession of victories.

While thus far the United States does not stand alone in this conflict, it is not safe to ignore such a future contingency, or to minimize the importance of exerting every present effort to strengthen the military power of the other United Nations.

This is not a time for quibbling, fault-finding or exploiting minor differences in forms of government among United Nations' associates. It is a time when all foes of the Axis powers are fighting desperately for self-preservation and for a restoration of peace to stricken peoples and orderly government in war-torn lands.

Confidence in ultimate victory can only be justified by willingness to contribute, in every possible way, to achievement of that end. And today there should be firm resolve on the part of every American that "Independence day" will continue as a joyful reality, not as a sorrowful memory.

Those Neglected Children

WHEN the traffic toll of children increases, although there are fewer cars and slower driving, something is wrong.

When delinquency increases, bands of marauding boys break into homes, schoolhouses and other places and wreak mischief, stealing and destroying, there, too, is evidence that something is wrong.

When small children show up on the streets or at settlement houses and playgrounds, alone, with door-keys tied on strings around their necks, so they can get into their empty homes in case of need, the situation is serious.

That is happening where women go into factories to work. It's easy enough to dismiss the matter by saying that women should not work outside their homes. But many mothers have accumulated debts left from the depression. Factory work offers a chance to catch up. They hope the children won't suffer from a few months' freedom. Also, the nation needs work done by women.

More supervised playgrounds, nursery schools, summer schools are needed. Many communities object to the expense involved—the increased tax rate. But nothing is more expensive in the long run than inattention to the children of a community. Future good citizens need discipline when young, together with loving and intelligent care. A serious problem is here set before all factory communities. It should be met and solved before it becomes too perilous.

The Greater of Two Evils

AN OPINION POLL reports Americans as believing, nearly three to one, that the foremost enemy of this country is still Germany rather than Japan. Pacific coast people naturally regard the Jap menace very seriously, but even they show a majority of 45 to 31 recognizing the greater peril in Europe.

Such realism is reassuring. It would be fine, right now, to attack the western menace in great force, clean up the Pacific area and make Japan powerless for further harm, if that could be attempted safely. But for the present, as the bulk of Americans realize, the main job is in the eastern war theater. Hitler and his allies seem capable of more harm there than the Japs in the Orient.

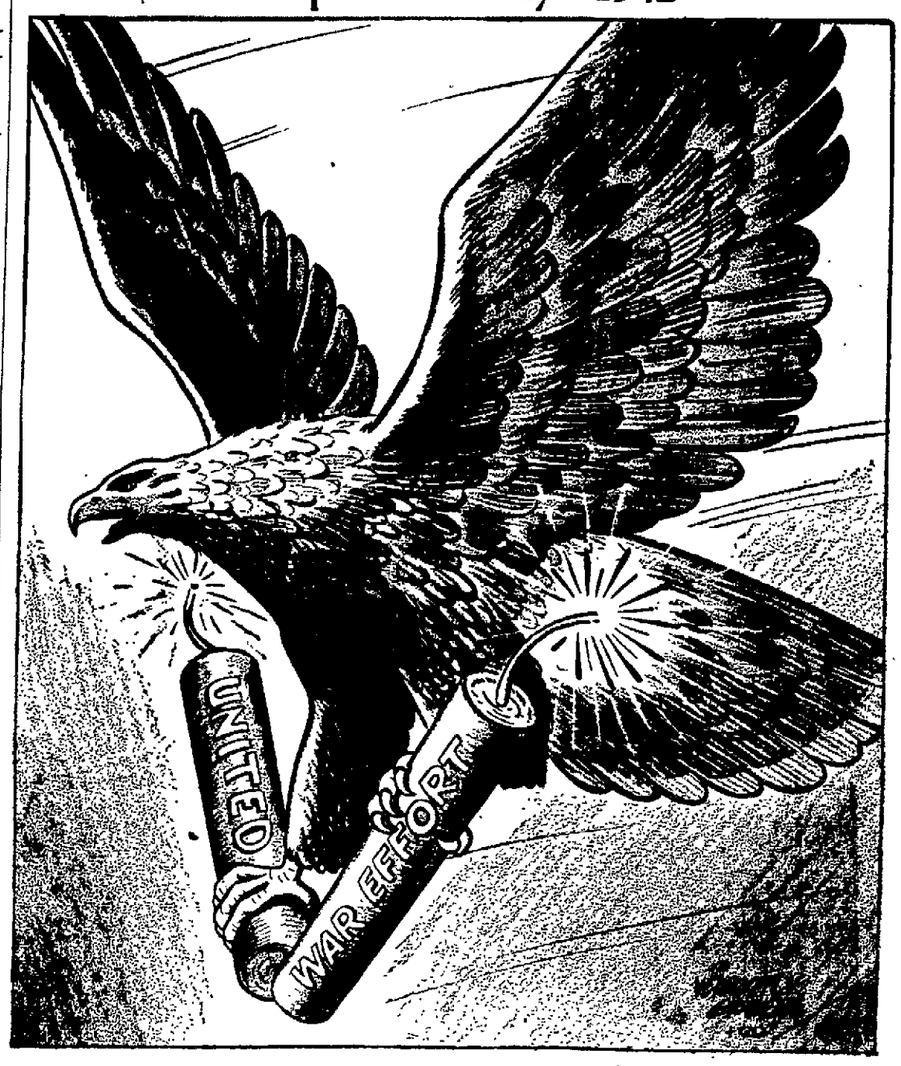
If the first of these jobs can be cleaned up, Americans can then turn their full power to crushing Japan. Meanwhile the U. S. Navy and General MacArthur together seem to be keeping the situation pretty well in hand.

This year's national income, it is estimated, will be the largest in the country's history—which will give younger folks an idea of the meaning of that old saying, "All dressed up, and no place to go."

Laval tells the French people, "I wish for a German victory"—seeming to have concluded, at least for the time being, that honesty is the safest policy.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and make sure that your new "use tax" stamp is in plain sight.

Independence Day—1942



Aviation Transforms War System

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

OLD-FASHIONED professional fighters, on land, and, even more emphatically at sea are beginning to admit reluctantly that World War No. 2 is about as different from No. 1 as No. 1 was different from our American War of Independence, about 150 years ahead of it. It's a transformation wrought in a couple of decades in comparison with the preceding 150.

They don't like to admit it because it makes them seem like back numbers.

Aviation is what's poisoned their original system.

It was a mere adjunct in 1914-18. They thought it was going to be the same thing again. Instead, it threatens to supplant them.

The groundlings still have hopes, as to the future. When it come to OCCUPYING an enemy country, they reckon that surface troops will have to do the business. They are getting ready for an actual invasion of the European continental terrain.

Flyers can come down via parachute, but not in sufficient numbers and at a rapid enough rate to escape being chewed up about as fast as they hit terra firma. Groundling invaders simply can roll in, in irresistible waves. That presumably is what our A. E. F.'s is in Ireland for—to swish, plus the English, across the Channel and swamp Germany, in co-operation with the Russians, from the other direction.

Flyers Pave the Way.

But the aviators are expected to prepare things for this surface movement, in advance.

During World War No. 1, the airman was an observer mainly. He might spill a few bombs. German airships were something of a nuisance over London, but no serious worry. The damage they did was negligible.

That was what orthodox warriors anticipated this time. Instead—My!—they raise hades.

It's reciprocated, too.

But what German air bombers have done over England and what British flyers have done to German centers like Rostock and Mannheim isn't a circumstance to Japan's vulnerability as a target for our own airmen. Brig. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle and 79 other American flyers proved this a few weeks ago without losing a single plane.

You need to have lived in Japan, as I have, to appreciate that kind of a raid's effects in the Mikado's realm.

Germany is substantially built. Its factories and things can have sizable chunks blasted out of them, and still function. A Japs factory, though, resembles one of our "tempos" in Washington. Set it afire and it's a goner, for a whole group of city blocks. It isn't confined to that one; others catch quickly.

Planes Have Advantage.

It can't be done naviatorially.

Most of the places aren't close enough to the seafront. Yokohoma is, and so is Kobe, but not farther inland. They call for aviation. And it must make 'em holler to have bombs dropped as close to the imperial palace as LaFayette Park is to the White House—just across the street.

I know that imperial layout—a palace, with a big park around it, a wall around that and a moat surrounding the wall.

Well, it's nearly impossible to worm in on an alleged defense of that kind with a naval force. It's gotta be squashed from overhead.

Plane-carriers are fine, to get close up. Transports are vital, to land ground forces, and supply 'em. Cruisers and destroyers are essential to run errands, but big ships are getting to be superfluous.

Aviation protects 'em, more than anything else does.

Aviation appears to be IT in modern warfare.

Eleven-year-old Ruby McPhillian of Loudonville was in General hospital for injuries caused by accidental discharge of rifle.

Miss Iva Canova of Bucyrus made balloon ascension and parachute jump at Walker's lake.

New 18-hole golf course was opened at Westbrook Country club.

TODAY IN HISTORY

As Independence Day, July 4, marks the anniversary of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence in 1776 and is observed by all the states. The date also marks the birthday of Calvin Coolidge, 30th president. On July 4, 1826, John Adams and Thomas Jefferson both died, Jefferson at Monticello and Adams at Braintree, Mass. On July 4, 1884, the Statue of Liberty was officially presented to the United States.

Listen World!

Dare You Be Free?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU SAW IT as you awoke today, those floating folds of red, white and blue, that glorious symbol of freedom, equality and justice to all . . . the American flag. Somewhere, perhaps, a cannon roared . . . drums rolled. And your heart quivered in salute.

To be free! To share the equality and justice! For a moment you lay there, thinking how much it meant, what a glorious heritage they have left you, those men who died, and are dying today that America may live. You flushed with the pride of it.

Nice going, feeling like that.

BUT HAVE YOU EVER STOPPED TO WONDER IF IT'S TRUE?

FREE, BUT ARE YOU REALLY FREE?

ARE YOU REALLY FIT TO BE FREE?

HOW LONG COULD YOU STAND 100 PER CENT FREEDOM?

HOW WELL COULD YOU HANDLE IT?

HOW MUCH WOULD YOU ENJOY IT?

We've a funny idea about freedom, we Americans. We think of it as a natural right . . . something George Washington and Abraham Lincoln established and which we automatically acquired by our birth on American soil.

Phooey, it's nothing of the sort!

FREEDOM IS SOMETHING EACH ONE OF US MUST BUILD AND MAINTAIN BY HIS OWN CONTINUED THOUGHT AND EFFORT.

THE CHINLESS WEAKLING, THE LOAFING PARASITE, THE MAN OR THE WOMAN WHO WOULD PERISH IF LEFT ALONE FOR 48 HOURS IN MOUNTAIN WILDERNESS OR DESERT . . . THESE PEOPLE ARE NOT FREE. THEY ARE NOT EQUAL. THEY ARE NOT FIT TO DISPENSE JUSTICE OR ENJOY ITS BENEFITS. THEY ARE SIMPLY HUMAN JUNK.

Only those who, in their own flesh and spirit . . . by their own strenuous struggles and decisions, have established their independence . . . only those are free. Only those are able to tackle freedom.

That flag which floats above us all today is not a guarantee of liberty or immunity; it is only a symbol of that cause to which America is consecrated. And if the individual American won't fight for that cause . . . won't perpetuate it in his own private career . . . IT IS NOT HIS FLAG. HE IS A MAN WITHOUT A COUNTRY, UNFIT FOR A COUNTRY.

Freedom is a beautiful thing when you see it as a symbol in a flag. But freedom in reality is the toughest job that any human being can tackle. For freedom means that you must stand on your own hind legs . . . that you must not depend on someone else's toil . . . that you must be able to make up your mind and serve your own needs. And these are difficult, almost impossible things to do.

Any human being can be a slave, submit to regimentation, let someone else make up his mind for him. The Germans have discovered that; the Italians have discovered it. There is nothing heroic about the mass attacks of the Nazis, the Fascists and the Sons of Hirohito. They are simply doing something which someone has told them to do because it is easier to do that than to think for themselves. They have no conception of freedom, would not like it if they had it thrust upon them.

And believe it or not, thousands of Americans are in the same condition. They live and die under the flag of Freedom but they have never been free. They have never faced life for themselves. They have followed family tradition or bent to community suspicion. They are as truly slaves as though shackles clanked about their wrists.

LOOK AT THAT FLAG AGAIN . . . LISTEN TO THE ROAR OF THOSE GUNS . . . THE ROLL OF THOSE DRUMS. ARE THEY REALLY PART OF YOUR LIFE? IS THIS YOUR INDEPENDENCE DAY?

Summary of Week's Happenings

Spy Hunt By FBI Brings Results, Eight Nazis Equipped To Destroy

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

EVER SINCE the Nazi invasion of Poland, the government has been on the watch for internal efforts to hamper production. Since Pearl Harbor that watch has been intensified.

Raids on suspected premises by the FBI have turned up 1,500 sticks of dynamite, 1,600 short-wave radios, and 2,300 rifles, automatic rifles, shotguns and machine guns.

Last week-end the nation had evidence that the U. S. has done a good job against plotters. Hitler, apparently unable to get very far with such methods, had been obliged to sneak in specially-trained saboteurs by U-boats. Those saboteurs, four in each party, had landed at beaches on Long Island and in Florida.

They had brought with them large cases of explosives; bombs that looked like lumps of coal, bombs that looked like pens and pencils, incendiary pistols, delayed timing instruments—and $170,000 to spend on their work.

Just 10 days after the second party landed, in Florida, the FBI announced the capture of all 8 men, the seizure of the sabotage stuff they had cached on the beaches, and later the arrest of several aides.

Plans of the sabotage campaign, said the FBI, centered chiefly around light metal industries, important part of the nation's airplane construction program. But the Jerries—all of whom had previously lived in the United States—had had other tricks in mind, too, such as planting bombs in public places, wrecking important rail terminals and lines, and blasting vital bridges.

A military commission was created by President Roosevelt to try the enemy agents, with the death penalty to be asked by the prosecution.

Finicky Survivors.

Six American seamen, only survivors of a U. S. merchant vessel sunk off the Atlantic coast, told a story during the week which clearly illustrated the seriousness of the submarine menace in Western Atlantic waters.

Tossing about in a lifeboat, 500 miles from land, they calmly vowed to pass up "rescue" efforts by just "any old ship"; too much danger of being torpedoed again. The lifeboat, they figured, would be safer, even with sharks all around it.

They were finally picked up by a modern merchantman, carrying a navy gun crew and homeward bound. An outbound ship, or one not so well protected, they said they would have passed up.

But stories of that kind weren't needed to emphasize the seriousness of the situation. Sinkings in the Western Atlantic and adjacent waters totaled 328 and 206 days since Pearl Harbor, and in recent weeks the ships were going down at a pace almost matching the two-a-day ship-building record set in June.

Meanwhile, the navy announced the relaxation of requirements for small boats to be used on anti-submarine patrol duty, called for yachtsmen, fishermen, and small boat owners to bring in their craft.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—You can say this for Jimmy Onorato—he always takes the first risk himself. Jimmy is the manager of that Gulliver's travelog of spinning wheels, shoot-the-chutes, flying comets, and runaway gadgets known more familiarly to New Yorkers as Steeplechase Park at Coney Island.

He's been there for 14 years, and every year, when the old park gets underway, he patiently goes over every foot of the business, taking the rides, and occasionally the falls, in order to ascertain that everything is going to be all right, and that no unsuspecting tourist is going to come tumbling off a defective ferris wheel on his noggin.

BUT that isn't all. The men who operate these dare-devil thrills are a matter of concern to Jim. He hires them personally—some 250 operators. If he can find, say, three brothers from the same family, he gives them all jobs. He has entire families working for him—fathers, sisters, aunts . . . "It makes for competitive spirit," he explains, "and then, too, they take a family pride in the business. They all feel they have a personal stake in the success of the job."

Something of a mechanic, Jim, as boss, not only knows how to give orders. He can peel off his sports jacket, roll up his sleeves and dismantle a reluctant rolly-coaster any day. More important, he can put it back together again and not have any of the spare parts left over.

It seems strange, when you consider all this, that he has a shy yet determined interest in painting. This yen runs more to water colors than anything else. Guests, intent on a happy holiday, frequently pass a man with an easel sketching the business end of a chute-the-chute, with shirt-sleeve crowds forming a background. They consider him no doubt an artist picking up a little local color on a sunshiny day.

IN THE matter of advice, Jim pays a great deal of attention to his eight-year-old son Michael. Mike is an expert on kid-reaction to thrill rides. When the rides are set up and Jim has tried them he gives Mike a whack at it. If Mike likes it, Jim knows he's in . . . The kids will get the kind of thrill they are after. If Mike doesn't like, Jim alters things until Mike gives him the okay.

"I keep in trim by walking in the sand," Jim points out. "Walk in the sand an hour a day, and it is the equivalent of walking five hours on a hard road. The sand pulls you down, and makes you develop those leg muscles."

What does Mrs. Onorato think? She's very proud of Jim—only, she says, she does wish he wouldn't go back to the kitchen every night and eat the children's cereal before he goes to bed.

As Others See It

Some Consolation.

Merely a Suggestion.

In borrowing food from a neighbor always borrow a small quantity, so she will not expect you to pay it back.—Kansas City Times.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"There's no excuse for missing when I have all these clubs!!"

Quotes

Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels, Nazi propaganda minister: "Churchill's second front does not interest us any more. We are only in doubt as to whether we should rather wish that he should try it or not try it."

Dr. Henry A. Atkinson, secretary for the World Alliance for International Friendship Through the Churches: "The first thing (after the war) will be to occupy Germany, Japan and Italy and see that these nations really know who is master."

At Home

Gas Is Up—What Gas?

The gas price increase (2½ cents a gallon) which went into effect along the east coast during the week didn't make much difference to motorists.

What bothered them was how to get gas at any price. Motorists by the hundreds of thousands were turned away from gasless gas stations last week-end and there seemed little promise for improvement of the situation.

And if, as generally believed, national gas rationing hinged on the rubber collection drive, indications were that motorists in the now non-rationed 31 states might soon be turning in gas coupons, too.

The rubber drive, originally scheduled to end June 30, was extended 10 days. Only 219,000 tons had been collected, far too little.

Price Peril.

The eastern seaboard gasoline price boost gave Price Administrator Leon Henderson a chance to illustrate his point that the government should pay subsidies to industries squeezed by present price ceilings.

If increased war costs make the price ceilings too low for the industry to keep going, Henderson contended, federal payments should make up the difference rather than have prices go up. Otherwise, he said, the price ceiling device against inflation is threatened.

A day or so later he announced price ceilings on the 1942 pack of dried and canned fruits would have to be punctured.

Financial Flurries.

Technically, the department of agriculture didn't have a penny to go on as it started the new fiscal year on Wednesday.

Congress, in a tangle over an administration request for authority to dispose of wheat at below-parity prices, had failed to pass Secretary Wickard's $680,000,000 supply bill.

The biggest bill in history, though, the $42,820,000,000 war bill, went through with scarcely a murmur.

Abolished, in action on a $1,115,000 bill for the labor department federal securtiy agency, was the CCC.

Abroad

Naval Base Toppled.

For 27 days Hitler's hordes poured into besieged Sevastopol all the bombs, shells, and men they could muster. Some 50 trainloads of explosives were dumped on its rugged forts; more than 100,000 Nazis, said the Russians, crumpled before its defenses.

Then, on the 27th day, the Germans announced the fall of the gallant city, the removal of the thorn in the side of the would-be Caucasus invaders.

Nothing was left, said the Nazis, but a few troops who kept up the fight as they fled to a narrow outlying peninsula. Moscow, holding to its beleaguered fort as long as there was anything to hold to, conceded at first only that the invaders had forced their way into the city where they were being engaged in hand-to-hand battles.

With Sevastopol out of the picture, Hitler's generals could move more men into the Kharkov area.

Toward Alexandria.

Immediate goal for the Nazis pressing ahead in Egypt was Alexandria, British key to control of the eastern Mediterranean. Other possible ports—Haifa, Palestine, Beirut in Syria, or Port Said—could not properly handle a fleet.

With the Mediterranean thus cleared for Nazi supply movements, troops and men could pour into conquered Egypt for a direct smash at the Middle East through Palestine.

That would open the way for a meeting with Japanese forces, and a drive to the north toward the harried Russians in the Caucasus.

Home Fires Burning.

It was Churchill eloquence vs. Nazi cannon.

Great Britain's prime minister knew before he left the United States that the Nazis had kicked up far more than the swirling sands of Libya when their motorized legions crashed through Tobruk and into Egypt.

So Churchill flew home from a war parley with President Roosevelt to face a grumbling Parliament.

But again Churchill won a vote of confidence—475 to 25.

Against the sounding board of the new defeat re-echoed an old complaint of impatient British—the "second front" against Germany in Europe.

In this direction, the RAF blasted Bremen three times, reported they had reduced that U-boat nest to the desolate, burning state of Cologne and Essen. They also ranged over the coast of France, hitting again at St. Nazaire.

People

Inventive Dentist.

Dr. Ralph Huber, Seattle dentist, finds time between filling cavities to exercise an inventive bent.

Last year he turned over to the government a bombing calculator for small warplanes. Its disposition, he says, is a military secret.

His newest offering is a one-shot hypodermic needle, a cellulose-wrapped automatic device to be used and discarded like a paper cup. Used by soldiers in the field, he says, it would eliminate the time-consuming process of sterilization.

Faulty Diagnosis.

A "paranoiac" is "one affected with mental unsoundness attended with delusions." A "psychopath" is "one who because of mental infirmity is morally irresponsible."

Dr. Charles H. Dolloff, Concord, N. H., writing in the New England Journal of Medicine, contends that Hitler is at large today only because a German mental specialist in 1923 sent the former paperhanger to jail for six months as a "fanatical psychopath," instead of indefinitely as a "dangerous paranoiac."

"The most fateful diagnostic failure in all history," Dr. Dolloff calls it.

MISS SHANEFF TO WED NEW YORKER TODAY

Former Director of Country Day School Will Become Bride of L. L. Kisselintcheff In Indianapolis Church.

AT 5:30 O'CLOCK this afternoon, Miss Angeline Shaneff, daughter of Mrs. Pandle G. Shaneff of Indianapolis, Ind., and Lambo L. Kisselintcheff of New York City, will be united in marriage at the First Baptist church in Indianapolis. Dr. Atwater will officiate. The bride is well known in Mansfield as she was director of Country Day school for two years prior to her resignation this spring. Before she became director, Miss Shaneff taught at the school for two years.

For the ceremony, Miss Shaneff will wear a floor length gown of traditional ivory satin fashioned with long sleeves tapered to a point over the hand and a very full skirt that extends into a sweeping train. The gown has a romance neckline accented with an insertion of Brussels lace which was worn on the wedding gown of the bride's mother. Cascading from a halo of the same lace will be Miss Shaneff's double tiered fingertrip veil of ivory illusion.

After August 2, Mr. and Mrs. Kisselintcheff will be at home at 25 East 76th street in New York City, where the bridegroom is associated with the Allied Arts corporation.

Miss Lozier Weds George R. Dewey In Local Church

Before the altar of the First Methodist church, Miss Catherine E. Lozier, 42½ West Second street, exchanged nuptial vows with George Roger Dewey, West Fourth street, at 8:30 p. m. on July 2. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. G. Corwin. Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dewey of Shell Rock, Ia., are parents of the bridegroom.

Wedding attire of the new Mrs. Dewey was an aqua suit with brown accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds and baby's breath. Maid of honor was Miss Betty Rettig, niece of the bride, who recently returned from Miami, Fla. She wore a periwinkle blue dress with rose accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds and baby's breath. A blue print dress was worn with beige accessories by Mrs. Dewey, mother of the bridegroom. Talisman roses formed her corsage.

John Odgen served as best man for Mr. Dewey. The couple left following the ceremony on a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. They will reside at 42½ West Second street. The bride was graduated from Mansfield high school and is employed at the Soda Grill on South Mainn street. The bridegroom, graduate of the Shell Rock high school, is employed in a local defense plant.

Out-of-town gueses were Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Dewey, sons Paul and Ralph, Shell Rock, Ia.; Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Fetzer of Canton; arnd Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Auten of Fredericktown.

HOROSCOPE

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 5

Sunday's horoscope holds augury of more than lively enterprise and initiative, with much stirring activity dominant in both the social, domestic and workaday affairs of prime importance. New propositions and projects are to the fore, for pushing eagerly and forcefully, but maintain harmony with superiors and elders and be alert to secret antipathies.

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year of high pressure, with many new and fresh adventures moving at great tension into conspicuous grooves of achievement. Practical and constructive attack and bold initiative are under unusual stimuli for production. Happy reactions are noted in the social, domestic and affectional life, but in all be amiable and complacent with superiors.

A child born on this day should have much practical creative ability, initiative and determination to put over major programs of military or engineering importance. It may have keen perceptions, ready wit and social graces.

FOR MONDAY, JULY 6

Monday's astrological forecast is for an extremely lively and enterprising day, especially in all literary, professional and cultural lines, accompanied by practical creative programs of substantial merit. These will be prosecuted with precision, skill and enthusiasm, although there may be opposition from elders or conservatives. Travel, change, and writings may bring success.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a lively year with much definite accomplishment, even against opposition from elders or conservatives. Bold tactics, determination sustained by clever ideas, and quick moves ensure brilliant coups. Writings, travel, new plans, agencies, communications should succeed. The young and enthusiastic are particularly encouraged to aim high.

A child born on this day should have much practical versatility and skill in many directions, either intellectually, manually or in business initiative. It will gain by travel, agencies, communications and literary pursuits. It may move under nervous tension but be successful and happy in life.

MRS. PETER A. DUNKLE

Early summer was chosen by the young women in the above photos as their wedding time. Four were married in June and the fifth, shown in the upper left picture, will be a bride of July 7. She is Miss Mary Ann Miller, of the Mansfield General hospital laboratory. She will wed Charles R. Shull of Cleveland at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller of Shelby. The couple will live in Cleveland. On June 27, the former Evangeline Dorothy Hammond, lower left, and Harry James Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Weaver, 249 Grace street, exchanged vows in the Grace Episcopal church. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl V. Hammond, 160 Blymyer avenue. The newlyweds are residing at 305 West Third street. Shown in the gown she wore for her wedding on June 27, is Mrs. Richard P. Schmidt, (center), the former Betty Marie Kimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Kimes, 27 Hoffer avenue. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schmidt, 432 Fourth avenue. Scene of the ceremony was St. Peter's Catholic church. Mr. and Mrs. Schmidt will be at home after Sunday at 219 West Third street. Before her marriage on June, 26 Mrs. Charles H. Batdorf, upper right, was Mary Ann Edmonstone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Edmonstone, 1035 Park avenue west. Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Batdorf of Jeromesville are parents of the bridegroom. The wedding took place in the Methodist parsonage at Covington, Ky. Mrs. Peter A. Dunkle, lower right, is the former Geraldine Blumenshenkel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Blumenshenkel, Lower Lucas road. Mr. Dunkle is the son of Mrs. P. A. Dunkle, 184 South Franklin street. The couple exchanged vows in the chapel of Grace Episcopal church on June 20.

Meeting Held At Hotel by L'Etude Club

Mrs. Howard Frey, Connor drive, was hostess tothe L'Etude club Thursday evening at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. The business session was conducted by Mrs. T. R. Cuddy, jr., Robert Frey, son of the hostess, gave an interesting lecture on "Mental Aberration." His discussion was divided into two parts: exogenous and functional mental aberration.

"Sylvia," by Oley Speaks, and "Song Without a Song," by Vincent Youman, were rendered by Mrs. Fred Troll. Prizes for the evening were awarded to Mrs. A. D. Murphy and Mrs. Cuddy. Guests for the occasion were Mrs. Charles Zediker and Mrs. Troll.

The unusual table decorations represented a blockade. Each person's lunch was in a small "pup" tent on which her name had been printed. Color scheme for the appointments was red, white and blue. Mrs. Elmer Gottfried will be hostess for the July 16 meeting at her home, 1328 Springmill street.

Vary Meals With Fresh New Touch

By BETSY NEWMAN

To make our meals more interesting is the very worthy ambition of us housewives in these dire days. We can't change the things in the world that sadden us, but we can keep our homes pleasant, keep our families interested and happy with the little things of living, including good, well-balanced meals. Try this curry of veal for a change, and the grapefruit and asparagus salad. Early summer salads should be tangy and refreshing.

Today's Menu.

Curry of Veal
Steamed or Boiled Rice
Asparagus and Grapefruit Salad
Buttered Beets
Sliced Bananas and Oranges
Coffee or Tea

Curry of Veal.

1½ lbs. breast or neck of veal
2 medium sized onions, sliced
½ tablespoon melted butter or other fat
1 teaspoon salt
½ tablespoon curry powder
2 tablespoons flour
¼ cup cold water
1 teaspoon vinegar
1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley

Have meat sliced ½ inch thick. Brown quickly on both sides in heavy frying pan without fat, remove from pan and cut into 1½ inch pieces. Saute onions in melted shortening until brown; remove from frying pan, add meat, salt and curry powder; return onions, cover with boiling water and simmer, covered, for about 2 hours, or until tender. Thicken veal stock with paste of flour and cold water; add vinegar and parsley, and cook 3 to 5 minutes. Serve at once. Serves 6.

Grapefruit And Asparagus Salad.

Asparagus tips
Grapefruit
Lettuce
Pimiento or red pepper
Salad dressing

For each serving place 2 or 3 large green asparagus tips in middle of bed of lettuce. Arrange 3 whole sections of fresh or canned grapefruit on each side of asparagus and at right angles to it to cover bed of lettuce. Arrange strips of pimiento or red pepper on asparagus, garnish with small lettuce leaves or greens at tips and ends of asparagus. Serve with French or your favorite salad dressing.

Church Unit Has Guest Speaker

Members of the Lucretia Hedges unit No. 6 of the First Methodist church met at the home of Miss Nellie McIlvane, 225 West Fourth street, last evening. Associate hostesses were Mrs. Roma Campbell and Miss Rebecca Grubaugh.

Mrs. A. B. Hamman led the devotions and guest speaker for the evening was Mrs. Louis Ott. Short talks were also given by Mrs. Foster Diehl on nurses' aid training and by Mrs. Campbell on her Red Cross work. Mrs. Charles Ray told of her work in the welfare department.

The business meeting was conducted by Mrs. George Hout, president. Luncheon was served with decorations carried out in red, white and blue. Plans were made for a picnic Aug. 7.

HERE AND THERE

FIRST LIEUT. JAMES M'CONNELL left last night for Randolph Field, Tex., where he is a flying instructor for the Army Air Corps. He had been in Mansfield since Sunday, visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McConnell, 472 Edgewood road. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Shawk have returned from Cedar Point, where they attended the Ohio Gun Collectors association meeting at The Breakers. The next meeting will take place in Cleveland in July.

House guests this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Andrews, 140 Wood street, have been Mr. and Mrs. John L. Andrews of Cincinnati and their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Fogg of Quincy, Mass. . . . Miss Margaret Wadsworth, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Wadsworth, 147 North Mulberry street, recently was pledged to Chi Omega sorority, at Ohio State university. A member of Scholaris, sophomore honorary, during the past year, Margaret is majoring in primary education in the School of Education.

VISITING their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Graham, 514 Marion avenue, are Mr. and Mrs. George W. Graham of New York City. . . . Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Bellnap and the latter's mother, Mrs. Ida Brawn, left Thursday for Spartanburg, S. C., where they will make their home. . . . Miss Rosella Russell spent last week-end with friends in South Woodbury.

* * *

Mr. and Mrs. William Fisher, 102 Columbia avenue, Mr. and Mrs. William Russell, 24 Glessner avenue, Miss Georgia Lantz and Mrs. Ernest McPeek, 32 Flint street, motored to Niantic, Conn., and Fort Slocum, N. Y., last week to visit Raymond and Ernest McPeek, who are stationed in army camps there. En route home they called on Mr. and Mrs. Harry Sugg and Mrs. Ada Lantz of Pittsburgh, Pa., formerly of Bellville. Mrs. McPeek remained with her husband and is living at New Rochelle, N. Y.

BUSY BEE CLUB PICNIC.

Members of the Busy Bee club enjoyed a picnic supper Thursday evening at North Lake park. Bunco prizes were won by Mrs. Mae Diesem, Mrs. Bessie Sheets and Mrs. Clara Calver. The next meeting, July 16, will be a steak fry at Maple Lake park.

Afternoon Picnic Enjoyed by Club

Members of Astowela Garden club enjoyed a picnic yesterday at the country home of Mrs. W. J. Spreng with Mrs. Harold Balyeat serving as associate hostess.

A quiz program concerning flowers was conducted by Mrs. Neil Remy. The meeting was in charge of the president, Mrs. Richard Fensch. For the July 17 meeting Mrs. Emerson Weller, 383 Overlook road, will be hostess with Mrs. Ralph Walker, associate. Mrs. P. J. Kelly will have the program.

PARTY HONORING VISITOR.

Virginia Parks, Lansing, Mich., was honered Thursday evening with a party given by Katherine Ann Schafer, 88 Sherman avenue. Eight girls were present. Prizes for the games were awarded to Kathryn Ann Fensch and Marjorie Urich. A guest prize was given to the honoree by the hostess. Appointments of yellow and lavendar were used for the luncheon.

Farewell Party Given In Honor Of Mrs. Hudson

Mrs. John E. Hudson and Mrs. Robert McCulley, jr., Route 3, gave a farewell party for Mrs. T. D. Hudson on her first wedding anniversary, June 29. She is the former Georgeann Charles of near Mansfield. Mrs. Hudson left July 1 for Austin, Tex., to live with her soldier husband while he is stationed at Camp Swift.

Games were played during the evening. Prizes were won by Mrs. C. L. Taylor, Mrs. Marion Furry, Mrs. G. W. Moss, Mrs. Roy Sowers and Mrs. C. A. Hendrickson. Luncheon was served from a long table beautifully decorated in red, white and blue. A large anniversary cake was used as centerpiece. It was appropriately decorated with red and blue "V's for Victory" and red and blue stars. There were bouquets of red and white carnations and baby's breath to complete the luncheon appointments.

A picture of Mr. Hudson, who is a private first class, was placed on the wall between two crossed American flags. There were miniature flags on the table. Mrs. Hudson received many lovely gifts from the group. The hostesses presented her with an electrical gift.

CHAPTER XXIII

Ronnie had been in New York a week. Such a week! Orchids, exotic foods, subtle music, perfumes and flowers. Strange cubby-holes. Sophisticated places. The motley of New York. All things to all people.

Monday morning. Kay picked up the telephone receiver on her desk. She called Ronnie's hotel.

"A message for Mr. Ronald Farnsworth," she said. "Please don't disturb him. Take the message please—Miss Kay Kenyon will not keep the dinner engagement. She has an assignment from her office. She will be busy indefinitely."

Kay hung up the receiver. Ronnie would call back, of course. Around noon, when he felt up to starting over again. Such a Sunday. First, there was a hunt breakfast in a fashionable club. Then polo on Long Island. Dinner in a garden overlooking a bay, subdued lights, music to stir the senses. A smooth ride back from a country that was not country, but a fevered dream of a countryside.

City lights. City streets. Night spots. Doormen dressed like comic opera nabobs. The silken sound of money slipping into itching palms. "Yes, sir. This way, sir. Your table, sir." A few bottles for special guests. You'll find it excellent, and very rare these days. An extra bottle iced? Thank you sir."

Kay shook off the memory, too close to be a memory. The reality still throbbed in her head, ran a staccato course through her veins. There must be an end to carnival. This was the end.

Concentrate now, Kay ordered herself. There was a clean sheet of paper on her writing pad. The cabin in the cotton, the cotton field, Nu-Novelties can do them. But the little black people. Nu is not so good on character figurines. Their make-believe people are wooden. We'll have to find a firm that makes little people live. Ed Ellis might know.

Live. The word danced. It danced, and beside it another word took on the rhythm of the dance . . . MUSIC.

"Music," Kay murmured. "Of course. Music's the answer. The tunes of the South . . . Old Folks at Home, My Old Kentucky Home, Sussanna, Darling Nellie Gray, Old Black Joe, Carry Me Back to Old Virginny. A musical background. Not blatant. Not on the street. Inside the shops, soft music, far away music. Sweets to sweet music. The music everyone knows and loves. "A pound of pralines please." "Oh Sussanna, don't you cry for me." "Two pounds of pralines, please." "That's where the cotton, corn and sweet potatoes grow."

Kay did not wait for official channels. She went straight to the man who could blight an inspiration, or burgeon it.

"Mr. Burge," she said, breathlessly, "it just occurred to me . . . on the pralines, give them a background of music. Topical music."

Burge finished the letter he was reading. A matter of two seconds. To Kay it was that many centuries.

"What was it you wanted?" Burge's austerity would singe the wings of any except the soul so eager it was impervious to fire.

"Music," Kay said, too wrapt to beg pardon. "Music for the 'Louisiana Belles.' The songs of the South."

Burge cleared his throat so obviously that even Kay's enthusiasm felt the impact.

"You're not suggesting juke boxes, are you, Miss Kenyon?" he asked. "You seem to have missed the metier of our trade. We're not a juke box product."

Kay bristled. Mr. Burge could be intolerable. How dared he demean her idea without a hearing? She hadn't thought of juke. She'd thought of music.

"I haven't considered the medium of music," she said, quashing an impulse to be stiff. "The medium should be left to the client. It might be a piano, an accordion, a 20-piece orchestra. It might be a . . . juke-box. I've heard some very fine music come out of the nickel-in-the-slot machines. My idea was to synchronize three senses, sight, the plantation shown in the window . . . taste, the pralines . . . hearing, the music that ties the two together into a triology."

Burge removed his glasses, deposited them atop the papers on his desk. Kay remembered Ed Ellis's tip, "When he takes off his glasses, you've got him, cold turkey." Burge lit a cigaret, another departure from routine.

"I'll consider your suggestion, Miss Kenyon," he said, shortly. "It's daring, to say the least. National is conservative. We don't go in for hair-raising. We like to think we're refined."

"I'm sure you are," Kay said, sweetening her temper with a smile. "That's why I felt you'd like music. Not any music, but real songs . . . the songs that are in people's hearts, the songs that will be in hearts as long as there are souls left to sing them."

Burge put on his glasses so hastily they were askew.

"Very well, Miss Kenyon," he blustered. "Make a note of the music you have in mind and send it to my desk. It's radical but . . . we're living in a radical world. Anything can happen."

When Kay returned to her desk she found a slip: "Mr. Farnsworth called." She tore the slip into tiny pieces, dropped them into the wastebasket.

On Ronnie's third call, Kay knew she must do something more than sit tight. He was making a nuisance of himself. He could carry on indefinitely. There was no law against calling a person as often as one pleased. She would have to be a law unto herself, and make Ronnie understand that law.

She said, into the mouthpiece, "Hello. This is Miss Kenyon."

"Hello, Red." Ronnie was untouched by her chill. "Where you been? Siberia?"

"No, I've been busy. I left a message for you. Did you receive it?"

"Oh, that! No reada da Inglish. Don't tell me Clark Gable's in town. I warned that guy to keep off the lot."

"Very funny," Kay said, flatly. "But not to me. I'm busy, Ron. I'm not dining. I'm coming back to the office this evening to finish a prospectus. Ever hear of a prospectus?"

"No, can't say I have. But I know an octopus or two. Jolly fellows. Did I understand you to say you're coming back to your office? Coming back from where?"

"From a bowl of soup at the corner drug store."

"Swell. Make it two bowls of soup and I'll share 'em with you. Only I have a better plan. Ever been to Chinatown? No? Look out a window, on the downtown side. You'll see a cloud of chop suey floating over the housetops. I promised my friend Ching Wung I'd be down this evening and see what could be done about it. You've got to help me out, Red. Chin Wung velly fine China boy. Ally."

"Ronnie, please. Can't you understand?"

"Maybe I don't want to understand." This was not banter. This was a man. "Maybe I'm not convinced you understand . . . yourself."

"But Ronnie."

"But maybe I'll wake up tomorrow, or the next day, or the next. Maybe you'll wake up and find—" Ronnie switched the banter again. "What will you find? Oh yes, you'll find me waiting at the stage door of the National Candy theater at 6 o'clock, or do you prefer an earlier hour?"

Something in Ronnie's mood, in his voice, tugged at Kay's heart. He had need for her. A hunger.

"The main entrance, on Lafayette street, at six o'clock," she said. "One hour. I must be back at seven."

"The Authority on Authorities"

GET OUT OF THE WAY

When you see a situation approaching which is likely to throw you into the lead when you don't want it, your job is to get out of the way if you can and help your partner to have the lead instead. In many a case you can do this by means of throwing off a sure winner in the hope that your partner has the card immediately beneath it. By doing this, you may enable him to take the crucial trick and thus avoid a lead of the very thing which the declarer desires. Plenty of times you are able to know, to a certainty, or almost so, that your partner will have the particular winning card you hope he has.

Some of the bidding by that hand-hog in the South, who refused to let his partner play the deal at spades, could be attributed to the fact that it was a commuters' game and the train was nearing the station. But the play! Oh, yes, the play!

West led the diamond 10, the K falling to the A. The spade Q was covered and the A won. Clubs should have been finessed next, but instead the heart 6 was led, the Q winning. The heart A was scored, also the diamond Q and spade J, then the spades in dummy run. For two discards, South following East, saw the latter toss the heart 9, and then the diamond 4, so he put out the diamond 2 and club 4, leaving himself a diamond and the club A-Q-J. He then finessed the club J and made a lead-throwing end-play, by putting forth the diamond 7. East had to win with the J, so could only lead a club to the tenace. If East had discarded his diamond J, West would have won any diamond lead and scored the setting trick with another diamond.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

So completely startled was I at the telephone operator's announcement that Katharine was downstairs, that I could not find words to answer before the puzzled operator spoke again.

"I'm sorry to have disturbed you, Mrs. Graham, but she was so insistent."

"You haven't disturbed me," I said. "I wouldn't have missed Mrs. Bickett for worlds. Please give her the number of my room and ask her to come straight up."

I went at once to the door and held it open, although I knew it would be two or three minutes before Katharine could reach me.

Of one thing I was certain. The children and the rest of the household at the farmhouse were in no trouble. Otherwise Katharine never would have phoned me.

Yet a sense of something terribly wrong was so strong upon me that I had difficulty in controlling my face and voice when Katharine came around the corner of the corridor.

My first glance told me that my premonition was justified. She had put on much more cosmetics than she usually does, to hide extreme pallor I conjectured, and a jaunty veil draped over her hat sufficed to camouflage her eyes from curious glances. But I know her every mood and tense so well that I could see the terror and grief in her face.

Children All Safe.

"The children—and everything at the farm — are all right, Madge," she said, gasping as soon as the door closed. "I wanted you to know—"

"I know that without your telling me," I said quickly. "Now sit down and let me take your hat off before you talk. Is there anything I can get you?"

"No, nothing," she said with a little shudder, and I didn't mention the cup of tea I planned to make for her.

She looked around her vaguely as I seated her in a comfortable chair and removed her hat and veil.

"I had a suitcase," she said. "My purse was inside it. I must have left it somewhere."

This from Katharine, who never mislays anything, whose whole routine of life follows the rigid training of her years of nursing! My alarm was mounting, but I tried to make my voice casual.

"Probably in the elevator," I said. "I'll telephone the bell captain right away."

A knock at the door halted me and when I opened it the elevator operator held out a suitcase.

"I think this belongs to the lady who asked for your room number," he said. I thanked him and tipped him, closed the door and set the suitcase near Katharine.

"You see," I said with pretended triumph. "I was right. You did leave it in the elevator."

She did not answer my boast or cast even a casual glance at the suitcase. Instead she held out her hands to me again, and when I clapsed them she burst into hurried speech.

"Oh Madge, you must help me! I've just got a message from Jack calling for help from me, and—I haven't the slightest idea where to find him."

NEW METHODIST PASTOR TAKES PULPIT SUNDAY

Rev. George Beebe Takes Over Charge at Shelby.

SHELBY — Rev. George W. Beebe, 36, of Barberton, is the youngest pastor ever to hold the Methodist charge here.

Rev. Beebe will deliver his first sermon to the congregation tomorrow.

Rev. Beebe, who comes to the Shelby church from the First Methodist church in Barberton, was appointed to the charge here during the recent Northeast Ohio Methodist conference upon the retirement of Dr. Arthur Staples.

Dr. Staples had been pastor here for the past four years, having served in the ministry for 45 years prior to his retirement. Dr. Staples, who was 73, was the oldest pastor to serve the church here.

Rev. Beebe and his wife will move to Shelby to make their home at the Methodist parsonage next week. Rev. Beebe came to Ohio several years ago from the east to accept a call to the Grafton Methodist church. He later was transferred to the Barberton church where he had been for the past three years.

CHURCHES HOLD SPECIAL RITES

Pastors at Shelby Will Deliver Patriotic Sermons Sunday.

SHELBY—Shelby churches will observe the Fourth of July weekend with appropriate patriotic services on Sunday.

Several churches will have special music and sermons by the pastors that are appropriate for the occasion.

Services at St. Mark's Episcopal church will be cancelled Sunday.

Other regular Sunday services are planned at the First Methodist, Lutheran, United Brethren, Reformed, Church of Christ, Church of Nazarene, Baptist, Presbyterian and Most Pure Heart of Mary Catholic churches.

STRIKE ENDS AT BIG STEEL MILL

CIO Workmen Return to Jobs In Lackawanna Plant of Bethlehem Steel.

LACKAWANNA, N. Y. —(AP)— A strike at the Bethlehem Steel company's huge Lackawanna plant ended early today as members of the CIO United Steelworkers of America returned to their jobs on two open hearth furnace units.

Lorne H. Nelles, international union representative, reported the approximately 900 men voted unanimously to go back to work on No. 2 and No. 3 units, and said he was "confident" other workmen on the ore docks and blast furnaces would not carry out their threat to strike today.

The "many grievances against the company" which prompted the walkout will be heard Tuesday morning by the war labor board in Washington, he added. The agreement was reached, Nelles said, after Federal Labor Conciliator Clarence Lamotte conferred with union officials last night.

Edward F. Entwisle, plant general manager who said the stoppage reduced the plant's steel ingot production by two-thirds, declared the men left their work "allegedly because four employes were not members of the United Steelworkers."

Nelles attributed the walkout to the "company's failure to discuss many grievances which have arisen throughout the plant," and added he "understood" the four men had signed union membership cards.

INCOME CLIMBS

May Figures Released By U. S. Commerce Department.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — National income rose in May, on a seasonal basis, to a level equivalent to $109,000,000,000 a year, the commerce department said yesterday.

Wages, dividends and other income payments to individuals, totaling $8,656,000,000 actually were slightly below April, but since the decline was less than is usual at that season, the department said it constituted a gain for statistical purposes.

The principal decline between the two months was in dividend and interest payments.

WILL ASK DEATH FOR SABOTEURS

Prosecutors Charge Nazis Who Landed From Sub With Treason.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Government prosecutors served notice today that they would demand the death penalty for the eight German saboteurs when the secret military trial of the men starts in Washington next week.

Paving way for the trial by a special seven-man military commission, the army formally lodged four separate charges of treason and espionage against the saboteurs, who were nabbed by the FBI after they were landed in this country by Nazi submarines.

Since conviction on espionage charges carries a mandatory death sentence, the army plainly told the officers appointed to defend the men that the death penalty would be asked.

Even if the court fails to order the saboteurs hung or shot, President Rosevelt can set aside the sentence and order their execution.

Justice department records showed such a precedent for Mr. Roosevelt. During the war of 1812, a special army court martial similar to the present commission convicted Robert C. Ambister of inciting Creek Indians to war against the U. S. He was first ordered shot, then the court rescinded the sentence and ordered him flogged and jailed. President Andrew Jackson disregarded the court's sentence and ordered that Ambister "to shot to death agreeably." Ambister was shot.

All eight of the men have confessed that they landed in the United States with explosives, money and other equipment to carry out a daring plan to sabotage American plane production.

Because of their confessions, it was possible that the men would plead guilty and throw themselves on the mercy of the court. In that event, it was explained, it would take only two or three days to present evidence for the purpose of determining the severity of the sentence.

Four charges accused the eight men of sabotage and espionage and violation of the international laws of war prohibiting persons from "engaging in belligerent acts behind the lines without being in uniform."

The forthcoming trial will be the first of its kind since 1865 when a military commission was convened to try Mary Surratt and others for conspiracy in the assassination of Abraham Lincoln.

'ALI BABA' SEEN BY 125 AT PARK

Workshop Classes of Children's Theater Present Play At South Park Pavilion.

The first three weeks' efforts of the Children's theater workshop classes were presented in the production, "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," staged at South Park pavilion last night before an audience of 125 parents and friends.

Oriental costumes and scenery made by the children embellished the production that depicted the adventures of an impoverished corn merchant who found wealth in a robber cave.

The play in three acts introduced some fresh talent including the very young Donald De Sanze who won admiration for his portrayal of "Abdullah," slave to "Ali Baba." Another unusual feature of the production was Carol Ann Thompson's dagger dance. Ethyl Battin, dance consultant of the organization, originated the choreography.

John Bishop headed the cast as "Ali Baba," and the remainder of the players were Virginia McMichael, Frankie Lane, Richard De Sanze, Carol Ann Thompson, George Ridenour, and Bob Gandert. Cast as thieves were Robert Butterfield, James Gandert, Jack Welch, Robert Klein, Joy Herbert, Edward and Charles Huston, Ned Fort, Billy Russell, James Rush and John Fernyak.

Harold McCuen, director of the theater, announced the production. Others on the play staff included: scene design, Miss Ruth Dukes, William and Robert Gandert, Richard De Sanze, Sigrid Meisse, Carol Ann Thompson; costume design, Claudia Marks, Carol Thompson, Doris Alverson, Frankie Lane; costume executive, Mrs. O. I. Alverson, Mrs. Joy Herbert, Mrs. Michael De Sanze, Mrs. Louis Meisse, Mrs. R. J. Welch; properties, Mrs. Estes Thompson, Owen Hegarty, William Gander, and James Kroegher; make-up, Mrs. Jack Berno and Bettie Gibson.

MANSFIELD BUSINESS IN REVIEW

GAS CO. GIVES MRS. HOUSEWIFE SHOPPING TIPS

Home Service Department Urges Mansfielders to Buy In Large Quantities.

Are you getting the most out of your food buying dollars? The average housewife is not, but she could if she followed some of the marketing tips released recently by the Home Service Department of the Ohio Gas Co., in Mansfield.

In preparation for marketing it is a good idea to plan your meals for several days in advance. Make up your market order from the probable menus and then buy in as large quantities as convenient. This has the added value of saving gas and tires by involving fewer trips to the market.

For greatest satisfaction, go yourself and shop around. Make a study of markets and market prices in order to make the best selection at the best price.

Take advantage of specials and week-end features. Also buy in quantities whenever possible if you have the storage space. These policies usually prove economical.

Study the labels on the can for there you will find, as a rule, the definition of the product, the quantity, the state of the product in the container, and the quality of the raw product.

Never buy bruised or wilted fruits and vegetables. Home grown vegetables and fruits are a great economy.

Buy by weight and count, rather than by quarter or dimes worth.

UTILIZE BUSES

COLUMBUS— (U.P.)—Numerous Ohio school buses ordinarily idle during the summer school vacation period, now are transporting workers from their homes to war plants.

Culp Brothers Offer Skill In Newest of City's Jewelry Stores

Mansfeild's newest jewelry store has no gaudy show-windows. Its the Culp Brothers store located in the Richland Trust building. Shown in these pictures are: Top—The salesroom of the Culp Brothers store where a quiet, refined atmosphere helps you choose your favorite gifts without distraction; Below—Shown here are Earl and Eugene Culp, who operate the new jewelry store. Earl specializes in diamond and other gem work while Eugene is an expert watch technician.

The balance wheel of your watch revolves 18,000 times every hour, 157,680,000 times a year. Did you know that?

The Culp brothers, who operate Mansfield's newest and most modern jewelry store at Rooms 307 and 308 in the Richland Trust building, do.

They know everything about that modern wrist watch that ticks noiselessly on your wrist or that old family watch which vibrates in your vest pocket.

And they know all there is to know about the art of making, setting and repairing diamonds and timepieces. Earl J. Culp, a veteran of 24 years in the jewelry business, handles any of your jewelry problems while H. Eugene Culp, a graduate of the famous Bradley Horological institute of Peoria, Ill., is intimate with every tiny piece of your watch.

Opened New Store.

The Culp brothers opened their retail jewelry store in the Richland Trust building only last week after scores of friends and satisfied customers urged them to give Mansfielders the benefit of their craftsmanship and training.

The establishment of their store here gives people in the Mansfield area the opportunity to get services usually rendered only in the larger cities.

Many jewelers within 100 miles of Mansfield depend upon the Culp brothers for repair and replacement of parts in fine watches.

Earl Culp started his training in the jewelry line about 24 years ago when he went to work for Bancroft Bros., well-known Columbus jewelry manufacturers. He then worked with several of the Columbus quality jewelers, coming to Mansfield eight years ago.

During his stay here, he has become known to other area jewelers as one of the leading craftsmen in jewelry work, especially in the treatment of diamonds.

To hear him explain the manner in which he sets a diamond and prepares the setting, it sounds as though it were a simple matter rather than one requiring the utmost precision and judgment.

Eugene Culp has received training at Bradley institute and has emerged with complete knowledge of the inner workings of any watch. He can replace practically any working part of a watch.

Super Repairman.

He completed a full course at Bradley. Many watch repairmen, employed in the usual jewelry store take only a four to eight month training period and learn the rudiments of the trade. Culp stayed for the entire course and as a result acts as a super-repairman for repairmen.

Under his hands, an antiquated watch, which long since lost its power to operate, will come to life again. He renovates old key-wound watches so that they can be wound with a stem.

Both Earl and Eugene are proud of their new shop. They were formerly located in the King building. One thing about their shop that strikes you almost immediately is that the jewels and watches presented for sale are not glamorized.

They are presented in a quiet and restful showroom, far removed from the usual atmosphere of modern jewelry stores which have added accessories or novelties until they challenge the drug store for variety.

"When you want to buy a good watch or jewel," said Earl, "you can examine them at your leisure and in privacy. There are no interruptions to distract you when you are trying to make a gift choice."

The Culps are also a bit proud that they present only quality merchandise. They do not maintain any dressy show-windows of the super-super type to catch the eye. Their biggest stock in trade is quality merchandise and craftsmanship.

Individual Styling.

Another feature presented by the Culps is individual styling of jewelry. If a customer is not satisfied with the manufacturer's stock and has a special creation in mind, the Culps can produce it in surprisingly short time.

Just this past week, a couple was looking for a wedding ring to match their engagement ring. They found one almost like it but some extra gold decoration was needed to complete the resemblance. Earl took the wedding ring and soon after delivered it, perfect companion for the engagement ring.

Visitors are welcome at the Culp showroom in the Richland Trust building. Either Earl or Eugene are on hand to help you make a selection of a quality gift which you know will be satisfying.

Sport Podge

by REX HESS

Pittsburgh sports writers are still high on former Mansfielder Johnny Barrett of the Pirates. And they continue to compare him with the great Paul Waner.

Says Charles J. Doyle in this week's Sporting News:

"Jack Barrett has a chance to be a new edition of Paul Waner. The ex-Coast league speedboy has a strong throwing arm, and, like Brother Paul, he let's fly with his left hand. He is something like ten pounds heavier than Paul, and his speed excels that of the great batter who recently reached the 3,000 mark in safeties.

"Barrett is not expected to hit up around .350 as Paul did in his career," continues Doyle, "but the Hollywood grad looks like a natural .300 hitter, even in a year when the league is going along with .300 hitters who can be counted on the fingers of your hands, and some of these are not in there every day."

* * *

Johnny may fool Mr. Doyle about that .350 before the season's over. He got away to a slow start in the Coast league last year, but for the last half of the season he was hitting close to .400.

In another spot, Doyle, reporting a recent experiment by Manager Frankie Frisch in putting three southpaw swingers in the Pirate outfield, says:

"Johnny Barrett, moved from right to center field, with Wasdell taking over in left and Stewart in right. Barrett had made several fine throws in previous games, and he wasn't in center a full game against New York until he flipped out an important marker at the plate."

Good news for Madison high school's football Rams:

They'll have a new and fairly experienced youngster bidding for a spot in the lineup next fall.

Ray Reinhardt, member of Ashland high school's reserve team last fall, is now a resident of Coolridge Heights, and Madison bound.

"Nice ball," said Fred Huntsman as Ray Shively popped a skyscraper down the middle of No. 7 fairway at Coolridge—not far, but straight.

"Yeah," retorted Shively, "nice and round."

Midget Racers Go at Ashland

Roy Sherman Returns To Defend Title.

ASHLAND—Action galore will be on tap this afternoon at the half-mile Ashland county fairground oval as the midget auto racers compete in their second holiday auto racing card here.

Seven big events, bringing here the stars of the nation's speedways, grace the program starting at 2:45 p. m.

Gates will be opened at noon and from then until one o'clock all entrants will engage in warm-up runs. Promptly at 1 p. m. time trials for starting positions will get under way and the first of the seven races, the Victory Dash for the four fastest qualifying cars of the afternoon, will be flagged off to a flying start by Starter Jerry Berry of Akron, himself a former big car dirt track act.

Heading the parade of stars are Roy Sherman of Los Angeles, winner of the Decoration day feature here, and former world record holder Johnny Wohlfeil of Detroit who followed Sherman under the flag here May 30. Both Sherman and Wohlfeil will drive sleek Offenhauser-powered racers.

Also entered for competition are Ohio's banked track king Wild Bill Boyd of Steubenville driving the Phantom No. 22 Offy formerly raced by National Champion Ronney Householder of Van Nuys, Calif., who is now with the Army Air corps; Mike Little of Johnstown, Pa., Elmo Green of Phoenix, Wally Stokes of Honolulu, Clarence La Rue of Akron, Milt Frankhouser, Steubenville, Bob Heinze, Brunswick, Michigan state champion Duane Carter of Los Angeles, Mel Hansen of Los Angeles, winner of ninth place in the 1940 Indianapolis 500-mile grind, Deb Snyder of Kent, Eddie Ostwick of Detroit, and Ohio's flat track champion, Paul Russo of Kenosha. Russo qualified with the fifth fastest average last year at Indianapolis, 125.217 miles per hour, and finished ninth.

Time trials will start at one o'clock and the first of the seven races, the Victory Dash for the four fastest qualifying cars of the afternoon, will be flagged away to a flying start promptly at 2:45 p. m. Promoters of the race have guaranteed a dustless racing strip for the spectators' comfort.

They Have Fireworks In Baseball too—But It Doesn't Mean a Thing

Fights are frequent in baseball but—no one ever gets hurt. Not since Bill Dickey broke Carl Reynolds' jaw in 1932 has a player suffered much more than a bruised shin. Although players talk a good fight they seldom swing any damaging punches. There probably would be fewer scraps if the majors adopted the Texas league attitude of "Let 'em fight." Says League President J. Alvin Gardner: "Few want to fight when they know there's no one to hold them. They'll be brave if they feel reasonably sure the scrap will be stopped before any harm can be done."

Umpires, players and police quickly break up most skirmishes. In a Brooklyn-Chicago brawl two years ago, players rushed out as Joe Gallagher and Claude Passeau tussled but umps stopped 'em.

Here Umpire Rue attempts to separate Elden Auker (18) and Joe Kuhel in a Chicago-St. Louis brawl last year that police interrupted.

Latest big league scrap involved Dodgers and Cards when Medwick slid into second with spikes up. Camilli dives on Crespi and Hopp.

No peace-makers here: players had ringside positions in recent Seattle-Los Angeles game as Infielder Al Neimiec (left) and Catcher Gilly Campbell were permitted to battle 15 minutes.

Yankees Find Cure At Plate

World Series Rivals Lead on July Fourth.

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer.)

IT'S the Fourth of July and the New York Yankees are perched safely, at least for the day, atop the American league standings after demonstrating conclusively there was nothing wrong with them that a few base hits couldn't cure.

Tradition has it that the major league leaders on July 4 will be the leaders at the finish, and this Independence day finds last year's world series opponents ruling their respective roosts.

As the teams squared off today for holiday doubleheaders in both loops, the Yankees boasted a four-game margin in the American league and the Brooklyn Dodgers possessed a National league lead of eight and a half lengths.

The Yankees puffed into Boston yesterday, a little groggy from a western trip on which they lost 11 of 17 games, and proceeded to show that they were only fooling the past three weeks. They landed a 5-3 haymakers on the same Boston club that previously had beaten them five times in eight attempts and had won 20 of its last 24 games.

It was a twilight affair, first ever attempted on Boston's unlighted field, but nothing was darkened except the hopes of the Red Sox.

Frankie Crosetti was the standout performer for the Yanks, who made all their eight hits and five runs off Broadway Charlie Wagner in the seven innings he worked. After the Red Sox had come from behind to tie the score at 3-3 in the third, Crosetti singled in the winning marker in the fourth and added a clincher with a sixth inning home run. Spud Chandler kept eight Boston hits fairly well scattered and hurled shutout ball after the third.

The Dodgers also tacked a full game on to their lead, banging the Philadelphia Phils, 8-1, while the Pittsburgh Pirates were taking care of the second-place St. Louis Cards, 5-4.

Whitlow Wyatt tossed a five-hitter at the Phils, who paraded a half dozen pitchers to the mound in a vain attempt to halt Brooklyn's 13-hit barrage. Johnny Rizzo, with two hits, drove in three Dodger runs, while Dolph Camilli collected three hits and batted in two runs.

Home runs by Elbie Fletcher and Vince DiMaggio started the Pirates on their way to a four-run lead off Lon Warneke, but Lloyd Dietz had to rescue Johnny Lanning when the Cardinals rallied for three runs in the last two frames. It was Pittsburgh's only triumph in the four-game series.

In the only other game in the National league, the New York Giants took a free-hitting "twi-night" decision from the Boston Braves, 10-6. Johnny Mize hit his 13th home run and Mel Ott his 12th, with a mate on base. Mickey Witek also poled a two-run homer for the Giants, while Tommy Holmes and Clyde Kluttz homered for the Braves, the latter with two on base.

Two night tilts completed the American league program. Hal Newhouser pitched three-hit ball as the Detroit Tigers stopped the Cleveland Indians, 5-1, and closed the gap between themselves and the third-place Tribe to a single game and Walt Masterson blanked the Philadelphia Athletics on five hits to give the Washington Senators a 4-0 decision.

The Tigers drove Mel Harder to cover in the first inning, when they batted around and turned six hits into four runs, and coasted to victory as Newhouser fanned ten men.

Jake Early drove in two of Washington's runs, all of which were scored off starter Dick Fowler.

BOBBY JONES STAGES HOLE-IN-ONE TOURNEY

NEW YORK—(AP)—Capt. Robbert T. Jones of Mitchel Field, more widely known as golfer Bob Jones, will launch a "hole in one" tourney at 10 municipal courses today. Golfers will pay 50 cents each for one attempt to sink a dodo, with all receipts going to USO. The meet extends to 250 other courses in the metropolitan area on July 18.

Detroit Bids For 3rd Spot

Newhouser Gives Only 3 Hits to Beat Tribe.

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The Tigers were trying to get into third place today and the Indians were trying to keep them out.

Detroit, by winning last night's contest 5 to 1 on the three-hit pitching of young Hal Newhouser, pulled to within a game of the Tribe. Cleveland reached the halfway mark of the season with 43 games won and 34 lost, seven and one-half games behind the Yankees and three and one-half back of the Red Sox.

In today's doubleheader and in another twin bill tomorrow in Detroit, the question of whether Cleveland hangs on to third place is in the balance.

Newhouser was in top form last night and Mel Harder was not. The Tigers got to Mel for six hits as they batted around in the first inning, scored four runs, and sent him to the showers in favor of Tom Ferrick.

The big Detroit left-hander allowed the Indians only one hit until the ninth inning, when singles by Ken Keltner and Buster Mills, with a walk to Ray Mack, filled the bases. Then a wild pitch let Keltner score the home team's only run. The early hit was Jim Hegan's double in the fifth.

Meanwhile the visitors added a run in the seventh off Ferrick, on Doc Cramer's double and Pinky Higgins' single.

Newhouser fanned ten and issued five free tickets in winning his fourth victory against four losses. It was Harder's seventh defeat in 12 decisions.

Colony Keeps League Lead

Splits Even In Match With DeMilo Salon.

Splitting even at 2-2 yesterday with DeMilo Beauty Salon, the Colony Recreation team maintained its one-point lead over the beauticians for first place in the News-Journal women's golf league at Possum Run.

Kevey's Clothes blanked Bates Candies 3-0 in the other match, to take third place.

Florence Adams took medal honors for the day with a 96. One match went one extra hole, Ruth Seymour winning from Irene Heaton on the 19th green.

Team points are now: Colony 11, DeMilo 10, Kevey's 6, Bates 4. Next week DeMilo meets Bates, and Kevey's meet Colony.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

SPORTS ROUNDUP —WATY— By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK—World Wide—They almost had a "rookie" on the service all-star ball club, and would Mickey Cochrane have been surprised . . . down at the Norfolk Naval Training station Vincent Ambrose Smith, jr., who has been doing the catching for Bobby Feller, didn't get any orders to go to Chicago but another Vincent A. Smith did . . . the wrong Vince, figuring orders is orders, was perfectly willing and ready to make the jaunt, but they finally got the papers fixed . . . Jack and Cordy Milne, Lammy Lamoreaux and Ed Kretz, who used to pack 'em in at London's Wembley stadium, shifted their motorcycle racing activities to Hollywood this season . . . The Empire City hoss track had discontinued its special buses from the railraod station—which probably means more fans will walk to the track and fewer will walk home.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Jack Senn, Toledo Times. "Doc Spears, the University of Toledo's athletic director, head coach and man-about-town, celebrates a birthday on July 4, which may or may not account for some of the fireworks produced by his Rocket elevens."

SPORTPOURRI.

After that going-over by Manager Joe Cronin, Ted Williams announced: "I'm going fishing." . . . wasn't it Dizzy Dean who used to threaten to go fishin' in "Nofus Scofus" when he got peeved? And he almost got there . . . Incidentally, that $250 fine was the first ever plastered on Ted and only the second Cronin had handed out in eight years as Sox manager . . . The Iowa Pre-Flight School Seahawks play their first home baseball game today against the Washington town team. Lineup includes Ensign Jim Langhurst (Ohio State), Lieuts. Joe Truskowski (Michigan) Dal Ward (Oregon State) and Gene Flick (Minnesota), from the officers' dept. and Cadets Don Cler (Bradley), Omar Simonds (Yale Frosh), Ken Angenvine, and Bob Jenkins (Western Michigan), and Glen Osborne and Jim Phipps, who didn't go to college.

A FAST CARR.

The Bi-state league claims the youngest umpire in organized baseball is 19-year-old Frank Carr . . . Maybe the speediest, too . . . He was graduated from Rocky Mount high school last spring; had a tryout with the Rocky Mount Rocks and was released and caught on as an ump all in one season.

SERVICE DEPT.

George Rung, former Miami (O.) university sharpshooter, is the fourth member of the Great Lakes Naval Training basketball squad to get his transfer orders. He has been given an ensign's commission and will report for flight training July 23 . . . Johnny Pingel, the Michigan State all-America footballer, has been promoted to a captaincy in the 702nd military police battalion . . . Lieut. (JG) George Hope, morale officer at the Norfolk Naval training station, reports: "I learned more about getting out of sand traps while playing golf with Willie Turnesa than all the golf pros could teach me." . . . What was Willie doing in them, Lieutenant?

Loop Leaders Score Shutout

Perry Neldon Takes B-League Medal Honors.

Tucker Furnitures strengthened their lead in the News-Journal "B" golf league at Possum Run Thursday evening with a 3-0 win over Moose, but the second-place Elks stayed right in there with a 4-1 victory over Tinkey Lumber, who dropped into a three-way tie for third with Bissman's and Mansfield Printing.

Last-place Eagles blanked Central Fruit 3-0, and Bissman's won from Mansfield Printing, 2-1.

Perry Nelden took medal honors with a one-over par 37, while Jake Mayer and Paul Kelley tied for second with 39.

SOUTH CAROLINA CUTS GRID STAFF

COLUMBIA, S. C.—(AP)—The University of South Carolina will head into a tough football schedule this fall with a staff of two instead of five coaches to curtail expenses.

Head Coach Rex Enright will have Frank Johnson as assistant. Former assistants Charlie Treadway and Ted Twomey have left for the navy, and the fifth man, Ted Petoskey, has gone into baseball. Grid opponents will include Tennessee, North Carolina, Clemson and the Citadel.

Racing Helps War Relief

Empire City, at Yonkers, N. Y., and Arlington, the Chicago layout, are turning over all their take less only purses to horsemen, to the war effort. This figures something like $100,000 each, and will boost the turf's contributions over the million-dollar mark on the road to racing's goal of $2,000,000.

From a point of view of fan interest, the top attractions are Whirlaway's crack at the $30,000 Butler handicap at Empire, which will move him right up close to Seabiscuit's money-winning record if he wins, and the renewal of the duel between Mrs. Payne Whitney's Shut Out and Emerson Woodward's Valdina Orphan for three-year old honors in the $25,000 Yankee handicap at Suffolk. Both are mile-and-three-sixteenths whirls.

At Arlington, the headliner is the $10,000 Stars and Stripes handicap, also a mile-and-three-sixteenths, in which Best Seller, who won the Equipoise mile there a week ago, hooks up again with Equifox.

* * *

Delaware offers the $10,000 Newcastle handicap, with two top handicap mares, Crispin Oglebay's Level Best and George Widener's Rosetown heading a field of eight. Sam Riddle's War Hazard is the chief outside threat in the mile-and-a-sixteenth go. Detroit's feature is the $5,000 Liberty handicap, attracting six sprinters.

Red Birds Climb In Association

(By Associated Press)

The Columbus Red Birds, prefavorites to repeat for the American Association flag, have wormed their way into second place of the percentage rankings after struggling so long in the depths that they were regarded dead and buried.

While the league-leading Kansas City Blues were setting down Milwaukee, 6-3, last night, Columbus pounced on Toledo, 4-2, to wind up with a .528 percentage as compared with the Brewers' .526.

Last place St. Paul also worked wonders by knocking off Minneapolis, 6-0. This kept the Millers in fourth place with a .506 reading, Louisville, idle last night, is holding third with .519.

Swedish Runner Breaks Record

STOCKHOLM, Sweden —(AP)— There's a potential third world record beside the name of Gunnar Hagg today.

Running last night in the Stockholm stadium, the slim track star was clocked for two miles in 8 minutes, 47.8 seconds to clip eight and two-tenths seconds from the recognized world record of Miklos Szabo, Hungarian star.

Hagg's achievement followed by 48 hours his 4:06.2 mile.

Service Teams Play Tune-Up

Army Meets Navy In Briggs Stadium Today.

DETROIT—(AP)—Lieut. Gordon (Mickey) Cochrane's Great Lakes Naval Training station baseball team and the Fort Custer reception center nine square away here today in what amounts to a special service all-star game.

Army and navy men from 11 camps and training stations are on the rosters of the two teams and for most of the players the tilt, in Briggs stadium, home of the Detroit Tigers, will serve as a warmup for the all-star game Tuesday in Cleveland.

For Cochrane, former boss of the Tigers, the game also will reunite him with his batterymate of Philadelphia Athletic days, George Earnshaw, who is scheduled to pitch an inning or two for the sailors.

Cochrane plans to use Earnshaw, Freddy Hutchinson, Ex-Tiger who hurled for Buffalo in the International league last year, and Fred Shaffer, who went from Louisville of the American association into the navy.

Other former big league players on the Great Lakes team are Benny McCoy and Sam Chapman of the A's, Johnny Lucadello and Joe Grace of the Browns, Vince Smith of the Pirates, and Don Padgett of the Cards. Bob Feller, former Cleveland fireballer, also will play with the Great Lakes team.

With Fort Custer are Johnny Sturm and Ken Sylvestri of the Yankees, Mickey Harris of the Red Sox, Emmett Mueller of the Phils, Cecil Travis of the Senators, Morrie Arnovich of the Giants, Pat Mullin of the Tigers, and Johnny Grodzicki of the Cards.

Perhaps the first porpoise ever to be lassoed, and one of the very few ever to be taken alive, was the one taken in Bermuda, a few feet off Vogal Beach. Two commercial fishermen did the lassoing and the porpoise was put in a pool at the government aquarium. The big red mammal weighed 650 pounds and was 5 feet long.

ORDINANCE NO. 42-117

By Mr. Kyle.

An ordinance granting permission to tap outlet sewers extending beyond the sewer district of the City of Mansfield and located beyond the corporate limits upon terms herein provided and repealing ordinance No. 40-68, passed May 7, 1940.

Whereas, the Owners of property along certain outlet sewer lines extending outside of and beyond the corporate limits of the City of Mansfield desire to tap into said outlet sewers. Now Therefore,

Be It Ordained by the Council of the City of Mansfield State of Ohio:

Section 1: That permission is hereby granted to owners of properties adjacent to and along the outlet sewers extending outside of and beyond the sewer districts of the City of Mansfield, to tap into said outlet sewers upon compliance with the terms of this ordinance.

Section 2 That such owners shall obtain a permit from said City when they have obtained the customary tapping permit, have secured connection with the City's water system and have paid an additional fee of fifty dollars ($50.00) for tap for each building or residence. Payment of such fee shall be cash and shall be placed to the credit of the Sanitary Sewer Rental Fund.

Section 3: The City Council reserves the right to revoke any permit granted under the provisions herein.

Section 4: That ordinance No. 40-68 passed May 7, 1940, be and the same is hereby repealed.

Section 5: This ordinance shall be and remain in full force from and after the earliest time allowable by law.

Passed June 2, 1942.
Signed HOWARD G MILLER,
President of Council.
Attest: R R BLACK,
Clerk of Council.
Approved. W. J LOCKE,
Mayor.

INDIANAPOLIS— (U.P.) — Railroad caboose tradition has been broken.

Ben H. Pryor, New York Central conductor, installed a fan atop the car and connected it to a generator which charges a battery.

Gone are the familiar kerosine lamps. Pryor believes his is the first electrically-lighted caboose in operation.

BRITISH KEEP ROMMEL ARMY ON DEFENSIVE

Spur Egypt Attack as More American Tanks Arrive; Foe Withdraws.

from the Ninth and Tenth armies in Syria and Iraq, and aided by RAF and American fighter and bomber planes rushed to Egypt while Gen. Auchinleck conducted his strategic retreat, was more than holding its own.

In desert warfare the objective is not so much to gain ground but to destroy enemy forces. The final decision in the battle of Egypt will go to the side which can bring the greater amount of mechanized equipment to the field.

The successful stand of the British on the El Alamein line, where the Axis advance has been held up for three days following an uninterrupted 10-day smash of more than 350 miles from Tobruk, has gained valuable time for the United Nations to bring reinforcements to Egypt.

(The Stockholm newspaper Allehanda quoted Rome and Berlin reports that "several thousand well equipped American forces were fighting with the British around El Alamein. This report was not confirmed. Last week Axis sources said 11,000 U. S. troops had reached the Middle East battlefield.)

American Kittyhawk fighters and heavy bombers manned by American crews were contributing importantly to the Allied cause in the critical Egyptian campaign. RAF and American planes shuttled back and forth over the fighting area, strafing troops and tanks and bombing Axis bases and supply depots.

Bengasi, Tobruk, Derna and Bardi, Axis bases and supply stations in Libya were under constant attack by the Allied air forces. The raids were reported to be as intense as the RAF's mass raids on German industrial centers.

American bombers are constantly arriving in Egypt to help carry out the effort to cut off Rommel's supplies. Meantime the Allied air force is presumably attacking convoys attempting to bring reinforcements and supplies from Italy and Sicily.

Success or failure of this effort will influence Rommel's tactics. If he can be assured of a steady flow of reinforcements he will undoubtedly attempt to take the offensive, but if he begins to run short of supplies he will be forced to retreat. He is several hundred miles from Benghazi, the chief supply base in Libya. The British are in a far more favorable position from the supply standpoint.

Reds Quit Sevastopol, Take 300,000 Toll

MOSCOW —(AP)— Soviet Russia announced today that her siege-worn Crimean peninsula forces wound up an epic delaying action that cost Germany almost 300,000 casualties by withdrawing from the ruins of Sevastopol yesterday while Red army men hurled back Nazi assaults at three points on the mainland.

Vicious combat flamed on the Kursk front, where German mechanized detachments—supported by aerial squadrons newly transferred from Crete—were reported repulsed again in fierce attempts to slash eastward across Russia's black earth region 280 miles south of Moscow.

"In one day's fighting," the Soviet information bureau said, "the enemy lost 250 tanks and 15,000 officers and men killed."

German attacks were frustrated also in the Belgorod and Volchansk sectors between Kursk and Kharkov, it said.

Not less than 60,000 of Adolf Hitler's troops were declared killed and up to 90,000 wounded since June 7 by Soviet soldiers, sailors, marines and guerrillas who made the last-ditch stand at Sevastopol, a 25-day action in which 150,000 fell, it was reported.

The information bureau declared the garrison of the Black Sea naval base—executing "with unexampled courage and steadiness" a calculated plan to divert and bleed the invasion army—exacted casualties at a ration of almost four to one and quit their scarred pillboxes and entrenchments yesterday only on order of the Red army's supreme command.

"Soviet troops," it said "lost from June 7 to July 3, a total of 11,385 men killed, 21,090 wounded and 8,300 missing, 30 tanks, 300 guns and 77 planes.

"Troops, commanders and wounded were evacuated from Sevastopol."

(The implication was that the survivors were headed by transport for the Caucasus, where the Soviet trans-Caucasian army of Lieut. Gen. D. T. Kozlov stands guard. The German high command declared Wednesday that Sevastopol had fallen and remnants of the garrison faced annihilation on the Khersones peninsula, a spit of land to the southwest.)

Vice Admiral E. S. Otkyabrschy, commander of the Black Sea fleet, was identified as the main organizer of the defense, termed one of the "most brilliant pages" in Soviet war history.

Sevastopol had been besieged since Nov. 7. The Germans entered the mountains before the fortified city soon after breaking Red army lines across the Perekop isthmus, which links the Crimea and the Nazi-occupied Ukraine.

Board Agrees to Call Off Fair for at Least a Year

the board's $3,200 debt "so we can start with a clean slate after the war." No action was taken, however. The board has been receiving from $1,500 to $2,000 annually from the county.

No action was taken by the board to set up a one-day junior fair for the showing of 4-H club, Future Farmer, and school exhibits.

County Agent George B. Ganyard, who attended last night's meeting, said the youth projects could get along without the fair, since it has been done in a number of other counties in Ohio.

"There will be some disappointed boys and girls, but they are just as patriotic as their parents and I know they are willing to shoulder a part of the responsibility in winning the war," Ganyard said.

The county agent, in urging that the fair be called off for the duration of the war, added that "We would not show the spirit that will be needed to win this war if we refused to give up some of our pleasures and fail to realize how serious the situation is."

Plans for the fair, which had been scheduled for Aug. 25-28, were nearly complete. Premium lists had been ordered, two days of racing had been arranged, and contracts had been signed for rides and concessions and nightly entertainment by the Gus Sun company.

Since the concessions and entertainment features were to have been furnished on a percentage basis, the board anticipates no difficulty in cancelling those agreements.

U. S. Fliers at Aussie 'Alert' Station

American fighter pilots, who have given the Japs plenty of headaches in the air in cooperation with Australian fliers, are shown resting at a hidden north Australian alert station while waiting for an attack warning. These fliers have accounted for a goodly number of Nipponese bombers and Zeros.

SEEK 94 MORE TONS OF RUBBER

County Collectors Reach First Goal, Now Aim For Eight Pounds Per Capita.

amounts to five and a half pounds per person.

"The Richland county committee will intensify the drive until it closes on July 10." Hartenfels said, "and I'm sure that we can raise the additional amount.

"There's still plenty of scrap rubber laying around in the homes and on the farms of Richland county, and the committee is going over the county with a fine tooth comb to get it all. Filling stations will continue to pay a penny a pound for all that is brought in, and arrangements will be made to pick up any that is reported."

To reach the total of eight pounds per person in the county, the total collection would have to be 588,000 pounds.

THEATERS

World War Story.

The simple story of a fighting Tennessee farmer who became one of the heroes of the first World war is unfolded in "Sergeant York," Gary Cooper's starring vehicle, showing in Mansfield for the first time at popular prices. Opening today at the Ohio theater the pictures traces the life of Sergeant Alvin C. York from his fiery youth in the Tennessee hills to the bloody battles of the Argonne. His capture of 132 Germans almost single — handed, based on factual history, highlights the picture. Joan Leslie, Walter Brennan and Margaret Wycherly are in the film.

Tarzan Thriller.

Tarzan employs the technique of the jungle in dealing with an unscrupulous faction of civilization in the Madison attraction, "Tarzan's New York Adventure." Johnny Weismuller wears the habiliments of polite society instead of his usual garb in his customary role of Tarzan while Maureen O'Sullivan presents a regular fashion show in the part of "Mrs. Tarzan's Wife. A circus provides the background for the picture. Milton Berle in "Whispering Ghosts," is the co-feature.

Island Romance.

Victor Mature and Betty Grable romance through "Song of the Islands." Technicolor musical opening Sunday at the Ritz. Jack Oakie appears as Mature's sidekick, a young man who goes along just for the laughs, when Mature is sent to an island to take care of his father's cattle ranch. There the two meet Betty Grable, anxious to keep civilization away from the island. "The Male Animal," with Olivia de Havilland and Henry Fonda is the second attraction.

Dramatic Plot.

Magnificant Chinese decor was used in the filming of "The Shanghai Gesture," the Park attraction, starring Gene Tierney, Ona Munson, Victor Mature and Walter Huston. The action takes place in a famous gambling casino operated by a nefarious woman played by Miss Munson and deals with the latter's revenge when her business is threatened. "Blondie's Blessed Event," with Penny Singleton is the second attraction.

Meeting Postponed—The Madison township board of education scheduled to meet Wednesday, July 8, will not hold its session until Wednesday, July 15, due to vacationing school officials, it was announced today.

DESTROYER, SMASHED AT HAWAII, BACK AT SEA IN FIGHTING TRIM

(By Associated Press)

A WEST COAST PORT—A sleek and powerful United States warship, bombed into scrap metal by the Japs at Pearl Harbor and once officially counted by the navy as lost, is back at sea in fighting trim on this Fourth of July.

She is the U.S.S. Shaw, one of 16 destroyers of a 1,500-ton series completed in 1936-37 and one of three which Secretary Knox, in his first report on the Dec. 7 attack, said had been damaged probably beyond salvation.

In the less than seven months since enemy planes caught her resting helplessly in drydock and blasted away her entire forward section, the Shaw has been retrieved, rebuilt and refitted.

Under Lieut. Commander W. G. Jones of Boone, Iowa, her skipper since January, 1941, she again is ready for action in any quarter of the globe.

To sea with the Shaw goes a segment of her crew before Pearl Harbor, loyal and intensely proud, complemented by transfers from other ships and by newly-trained recruits.

Among those who have stood by with their ship during her long months of being nursed back to fighting strength are some who were aboard at the moment three heavy Japanese bombs slashed through the morning sky to pulverize the deck armor and set fuel oil and gunpowder aflame.

Warren Lounsbury of Stamford, Conn., was on gangway watch at the start of the attack. The young redhead pulled the general alarm, dashed to the stern to raise the Shaw's flag, then joined two fellow gunner's mates, Mike Lowey of Altoona, Pa., and Ralph Pendarvis of Olympia, Wash., in the after starboard wing of the mess hall.

There they started to belt up .50 caliber ammunition, but Lowey suggested they move into the middle wing to do the job.

"He saved our lives," Lounsbury said, pointing to his shipmate. "An instant later, a bomb demolished the after wing. We were knocked silly, but after several seconds we came to and found the ship on fire."

"None of us ever dreamed we would sail on the Shaw again," Lounsbury said. "She was nothing but twisted, melted steel."

But Lounsbury is sailing her now, and so are Pendarvis, Lowey and dozens of others.

You can't keep a good ship down.

TOBY

MR. LANE

HMM, I'D BETTER THIN THIS CROWD - THERE'S A COUPLE OF HUMAN BEINGS I'D BETTER KEEP APART

RUSS

COLUMBUS STATE MUSEUM

OH, MISS PEARL, WHAT ARE THESE PLANTS?

DON'T YOU KNOW? THESE ARE SQUASH

FOR VICTORY BUY UNITED STATES WAR BONDS AND STAMPS

OH, BY THE WAY, ARE THEY SUMMER SQUASH OR WINTER SQUASH?

WINTER SQUASH?

WHY, WHO EVER HEARD OF A SQUASH THAT WOULD GROW IN WINTER?

GOSH, HOW DUMB

I GUESS I'LL HAVE TO GIVE YOU LESSONS IN GARDENING, YOUNG LADY

GOSH! MAYBE I SHOULD HAVE SAID HOW SMART!

RUSS COLSTOVER

BUBBLES, THAT MISS PEARL IS CHARMING TOBY BY BEING IGNORANT OF GARDENING OR SEEMING TO BE

SEEMING TO BE IS RIGHT - MY COUSIN WENT TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL WITH HER

WHAT?

SHE'S BEEN TO AGRICULTURAL SCHOOL AND SAID SHE DIDN'T KNOW WHAT THINNING RADISHES MEANT

WELL, YOU'VE GONE TO COOKING SCHOOL. BUT HERE YOU'RE PUTTING PICKLES IN THE GOULASH

RUSS COLSTOVER

THERE, I'VE TAKEN THE PICKLES OUT OF THE GOULASH

THAT'S WHAT YOU GET FOR THINKING OF OTHER THINGS WHEN YOU COOK

OH, COME SEE HOW MY BEANS AND TOMATOES ARE GROWING, BUBBLES

TILLIE, I SAW THEM YESTERDAY

CAN'T YOU EVER LEARN THAT A WATCHED POT NEVER BOILS?

TILLIE, COME HERE

CAN'T YOU EVER LEARN THAT AN UNWATCHED POT DOES BOIL?

RUSS COLSTOVER

TOOTS AND CASPER

GEE, HERE COMES "PEACHES PIPP" AND TOOTS! I DIDN'T KNOW THEY KNEW EACH OTHER!
COL. HOOFER DOESN'T KNOW I'M HIS WIFE, BECAUSE I GO UNDER THE NAME OF "PEACHES PIPP". I'VE MADE LOVE TO HIM, BUT SO FAR HE HASN'T FALLEN, TOOTS.
I WOULDN'T RECOGNIZE YOU IN THAT MAKE-UP, MYSELF, SOPHIE, BUT BE CAREFUL, OR HE'LL GET WISE TO YOU.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
6-29
HMM-M-- SO MISS PIPP IS MY WIFE, SOPHIE, IN DISGUISE. I DON'T KNOW WHAT HER GAME IS, BUT FORE-WARNED IS FORE-ARMED! HMM-M-
JIMMY MURPHY
SO MISS PIPP, WHO'S TRYING TO VAMP ME, IS MY WIFE, SOPHIE, IN DISGUISE! I'M WISE! SHE'S TRYING TO FIND OUT IF I'M TRUE TO HER! HMM--THERE'S THE 'PHONE.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
HELLO, DARLING! THIS IS PEACHES PIPP! GEE, BUT I LOVE YOU, DEAR! WILL I SEE YOU AT LUNCH TODAY?
NO, MISS PIPP, I SHALL NOT SEE OR 'PHONE YOU AGAIN! I LOVE SOPHIE AND NEITHER YOU NOR ANYONE ELSE CAN COME BETWEEN US! GOOD-BYE!
USO
I COULD ACTUALLY HUG COL. HOOFER FOR BEING SO TRUE TO ME... HE'S TRUE BLUE, AND I'LL NEVER SUSPICION HIM AGAIN! I'LL CHANGE BACK TO MY OLD HAIR DRESS, CHECK OUT OF HERE, AND GO BACK TO HIM.
JIMMY MURPHY
G-30
HELLO, COL. HOOFER. I JUST GOT BACK AND TOOK A TAXI HOME FROM THE DEPOT.
SOPHIE, YOUR FRIEND, PEACHES PIPP, TRIED TO VAMP ME, BUT I'D HAVE NO PART OF IT!
7-1
WHY, THAT DOUBLE-CROSSER! I'LL BAWL HER OUT GOOD! HELLO, EL SWELLO HOTEL? LET ME SPEAK TO MISS PEACHES PIPP! WHAT? SHE CHECKED OUT TODAY! AND LEFT NO FORWARDING ADDRESS.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
THE CAT! IF I EVER MEET HER, I'LL SLAP HER FACE.
TSK-TSK--SOPHIE DON'T KNOW THAT I KNOW SHE POSED AS MISS PIPP AND MADE LOVE TO ME TO SEE IF I WAS TRUE TO HER-- TSK-TSK--
JIMMY MURPHY
TOOTS, I'M GOING TO FIND OUT WHAT COL. HOOFER IS UP TO EVERY NIGHT, STAYING OUT FROM AFTER DINNER TO 2.30 A.M. I'VE HIRED A DETECTIVE TO TRAIL HIM. TONIGHT.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
I'VE GOTTA GO OUT NOW, SOPHIE! DON'T WAIT UP FOR ME.
I'LL BE SOUND ASLEEP WHEN YOU GET IN, COLONEL.
THE DETECTIVE IS RIGHT ON THE JOB--- THERE HE IS, TRAILING COLONEL HOOFER!
USO
7-2
THAT WAS THE EASIEST SLEUTHING I EVER DID! NOW I'LL INFORM MRS. HOOFER WHAT HER HUSBAND DOES NIGHTS
AND TOMORROW WE'LL ALL KNOW WHAT COLONEL HOOFER HAS BEEN UP TO.
JIMMY MURPHY
YOU SAY YOU FOUND OUT WHAT COLONEL HOOFER DOES NIGHTS, DETECTIVE? IS THERE A WOMAN IN THE CASE?
NO, MRS. HOOFER, YOUR HUSBAND WORKS FROM 7 P.M. TO 2 A.M. IN A SHIPYARD FOR $42.00 A WEEK. TONIGHT ENDS HIS 20TH WEEK.
MY, HE WORKS DAYTIMES IN AN AIRPLANE FACTORY AND NIGHTS AT A SHIP-YARD! 16 HOURS A DAY, BUT WHY SHOULD HE KEEP IT A SECRET FROM ME ABOUT WORKING NIGHTS?
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
SOPHIE, I WON'T BE GOING OUT NIGHTS ANYMORE, BUT HERE'S SUMP'N' PRETTY FOR YA.
FOR ME?
7-3
WHY, IT'S THE BEAUTIFUL DIAMOND RING I SAW AT THE JEWELER'S MONTHS AGO
YES, IT'S YOURS NOW--- I HAD THEM HOLD IT FOR ME, AND I WORKED NIGHTS FOR TWENTY WEEKS TO EARN THE DOUGH TO PAY FOR IT.
JIMMY MURPHY
COLONEL, THIS RING IS SO PRETTY, BUT WHY DIDN'T YOU TELL ME YOU WORKED NIGHTS TO PAY FOR IT.
BECAUSE, SOPHIE, YOU'D HAVE SPENT THE MONEY, AS FAST AS I EARNED IT, AND I NEVER COULD HAVE SAVED UP THE DOUGH TO PAY FOR THE RING.
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
COLONEL HOOFER WORKED NIGHTS FOR 20 WEEKS TO BUY SOPHIE A RING, CASPER
SURE, HE TOLD ME THAT SEVERAL WEEKS AGO, TOOTS
7-4
I NEVER TOLD YOU, BECAUSE IT SOUNDED TOO FISHY! I COULDN'T BELIEVE THAT A LOAFER LIKE HIM, WHO NEVER USED TO WORK, WAS NOW NOT ONLY HOLDING DOWN ONE JOB, BUT TWO! HE MUST BE GOIN BALMY IN HIS OLD AGE.
JIMMY MURPHY

SECRET AGENT X-9

I FIXED IT WITH THE POLICE TO GIVE PRINCE CAESAR WORD THAT AN AXIS FLIER HAS ESCAPED FROM AN INTERNMENT CAMP AND IS AT LARGE IN THIS SECTION..
...THAT WILL GIVE ME A PLAUSIBLE EXCUSE TO ASK SHELTER WHEN I CONTACT CAESAR AND HIS GANG! LOOKS LIKE A HUNTING PARTY COMING THIS WAY——
AS X-9 STEPS BACK, A PAIR OF STEEL JAWS SUDDENLY SNAP SHUT
OW!
LOOK! OVER THERE!
SOMEBODY IS CAUGHT IN ONE OF THE FOX TRAPS!
MEL GRAFF
YOU SEEM TO FIND THE VIEW MOST ABSORBING, PRINCE!
INDEED! SOME STUPID TRESPASSER HAS GOT HIMSELF CAUGHT IN A FOX TRAP!
HMM! I WONDER IF HE COULD BE THE GERMAN FLIER WHOM THE POLICE REPORT AT LARGE FROM AN INTERNMENT CAMP..
THESE ARE PRIVATE LANDS! WHY WERE YOU TRESPASSING?
I'M LOST, I TELL YOU! I WAS TOLD STRANGERS COULD FIND SYMPATHY NEAR HERE!
YOU LOOK PALE, SAVANNAH... AFTER ALL, A FOX TRAP CAN DO SMALL HARM TO A MAN'S FOOT!
I— I KNOW, BUT IT IS UPSETTING TO SEE A MAN WALK INTO ANY KIND OF TRAP!
MEL GRAFF
WE FOUND THIS MAN TRESPASSING ON THE ESTATE, PRINCE CAESAR!
WHO ARE YOU?
YOU'RE PRINCE CAESAR? GOOD! THEN I CAME TO THE RIGHT PLACE!
I'M LIEUTENANT RUDOLF, ONE OF THE FUEHRER'S AIRMEN! I ESCAPED SEVERAL DAYS AGO FROM AN INTERNMENT CAMP!
AND WHY DO YOU TELL ME ALL THIS?
I WAS ADVISED THAT OTHERS OF MY KIND WERE BEING CARED FOR, HERE!
YOU ARE MAD! I SHOULD TURN YOU OVER TO THE POLICE!
MEL GRAFF
I SEE YOU DON'T BELIEVE I AM AN AXIS FLIER, ESCAPED FROM AN INTERNMENT CAMP, PRINCE CAESAR!
OF COURSE I DON'T! AND IF YOU ARE, THAT'S THE MORE REASON FOR ME TO CALL THE POLICE!
WAIT! WHAT DO YOU THINK OF THIS?
HMM!... A TATTOOED SWASTIKA!
SUCH STUPID HIEROGLYPHICS MEAN NOTHING TO ME!
I CAN OVERLOOK THE INSULT TO ME, BUT—— — NOT TO MY COUNTRY AND MY LEADER!
...YOU STRUCK ME!
I OFFERED PROOF THAT I AM AN AXIS FLIER! TO DOUBT ME IS TO ATTACK MY HONOR—BOTH AS A MAN AND AS A PATRIOT!
COME, COME, PRINCE CAESAR... PUT DOWN YOUR HANDS! THAT'S NOT OUR WAY OF SETTLING DISPUTES!
FISTS ARE A CLUMSY AMERICAN INNOVATION, SUITABLE TO A BACKWOODS CIVILIZATION! HERE, PICK ONE!
WITH PLEASURE!
THIS BRINGS BACK MY STUDENT DAYS AT OLD HEIDELBERG!
ON GUARD, PUPPY!
GENTLEMEN! PUT UP YOUR SABRES— THIS HAS GONE FAR ENOUGH! PRINCE CAESAR, A WORD WITH YOU IN PRIVATE!
EH?
...AND I TELL YOU HE DUELS LIKE NO AMERICAN— BUT LIKE A GERMAN OFFICER, AS HE CLAIMS!
YOU ARE RIGHT.. THERE IS NO FURTHER REASON TO DOUBT HIM!
LIEUTENANT RUDOLF, MY APOLOGIES! IN THE NAME OF THE AXIS— HAIL TO VICTORY!
HEIL HITLER!
THIS IS MAJOR JACKS, AN OFFICER LIKE YOURSELF, DESPITE HIS POST HERE AS A BUTLER! HE WILL SHOW YOU WHAT WE ARE PLANNING TO DO, HERE!
VERY GOOD!

BIG SISTER

WHAT'S THE USE? SOMEWHERE ALONG THE LINE THE PICTURE GOT AWAY FROM US.
NOT YET, IT HASN'T. NOT AS LONG AS THERE'S THIS LAST ADDRESS TO WORK ON.
USO
6-29
YEAH! AND WHERE IS IT? THE OTHER END OF NOWHERE.
OUT THIS ROAD A BIT. IT CAN'T BE FAR
OUT HERE IN THE COUNTRY. WE'LL NEVER FIND IT HERE!
LISTEN! IT'S OUR JOB TO GET THAT PICTURE! WE KEEP ON TRYING TILL THE LAST CHANCE HAS GONE!
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
FORGRAVE
THERE IT IS! THAT'S THE HOUSE OVER THERE NOW TAKE IT EASY SIZE IT UP AS WE GO BY.
H'M! JUST A FARM-HOUSE. SHOULDN'T GIVE US ANY TROUBLE.
6-30
Copr. 1942 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
WONDER WHAT THE FAMILY IS LIKE? HOW MANY OF 'EM? WHEN'S THE BEST TIME TO GO IN?
ANY TIME IN THE SMALL HOURS WILL DO. NO NEIGHBORS NEAR.
USO
AH! AT LAST! JUST AS I WAS READY TO GIVE UP. NOW TO KEEP HER IN SIGHT
FORGRAVE
SO THAT'S WHERE SHE LIVES! AND WITHOUT A DOUBT THE OBJECT I WANT HANGS ON A WALL INSIDE!
7-1
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
NOW HOW TO GET IT? AS MUCH AS I HATE IT, THERE'S BUT ONE WAY AND THAT, UNDER COVER OF DARKNESS.
USO
I THINK I CAN LOOK FOR SOME ACTION MIGHTY SOON, NOW! YEP! MAYBE TONIGHT!
FORGRAVE
THERE NOW! THE FRAME IS FIXED AS GOOD AS NEW, BUT THE GLUE HAS TO SET.
WE'LL LEAVE IT RIGHT THERE TILL MORNING.
7-2
I HATE THIS, BUT IT HAS TO BE DONE I'LL NOT NEED MY HAT PICK IT UP ON MY WAY BACK
USO
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
SMOKES! ARE WE GOING TO WAIT HERE ALL NIGHT?
DON'T GET IN A SWEAT! THE MOON WILL BE DOWN SOON, TIME ENOUGH THEN.
FORGRAVE
THE MOON IS DOWN! IF HE'S COMING TONIGHT HE'LL SOON—
SH-H-H! THERE HE IS NOW, SLIPPING IN FROM THE BACK. LET HIM GET INSIDE—
7-3
Copr. 1942, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
NOW! GIVE THE WORD TO THE BOYS! TELL THEM TO CLOSE IN ON THE HOUSE.
USO
AND ON OPPOSITE SIDES OF THE HOUSE—
NOT HERE! IT'S NOT HERE!! I'VE SEARCHED EVERY WALL!

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

I AM SORRY I HAD TO GO SNOOPING AROUND, FRIGHTENING ALL YOUR LITTLE GUESTS — BUT MY DUTIES AS STATE INSPECTOR —
I UNDERSTAND YOUR POSITION — IF THERE IS ANYTHING WRONG HERE AT MY RESIDENCE, I WANT TO KNOW IT — I WISH TO OBEY EVERY LAW
I CONGRATULATE YOU, MR. OLIVER — I CAN TRUTHFULLY REPORT THAT EVERYTHING IS IN PERFECT ORDER — YOU ARE DOING A SPLENDID JOB — OBEYING EVERY LAW TO THE LETTER
HONEST, ZERO — I WISHT I KNEW WHY THAT SCARY-LOOKIN' MAN KEEPS SNOOPIN' 'ROUND ALL THE TIME — I GET THE WIM-WAMS EVERY TIME HE LOOKS AT ME
— I KNOW YOU HAVE BEEN WONDERING WHAT THAT STERN, FORMIDABLE-LOOKING MAN WAS DOING IN OUR MIDST FOR THE PAST WEEK —
NOW THAT HIS WORK IS COMPLETED, I CAN TELL YOU — HE WAS A STATE INSPECTOR, AND IT MAKES ME VERY PROUD TO INFORM YOU —
USO
— THAT HE WILL REPORT MY RESIDENCE AND MY GUESTS ARE CLASS A-1. HE TOLD ME HE FOUND YOU TO BE A VERY HEALTHY, HAPPY GROUP OF LITTLE BOYS AND GIRLS
GLORYOSKY!
HURRAY!
MY GOODNESS — I THOUGHT HE WAS A WICKED MAN THAT HATED ALL US KIDS
GLORYOSKY, ZERO, DID YOU HEAR WHAT MR. OLIVER TOLD ME? I'M NOT GONNA GROW ANY MORE CARROTS ON MY VICTORY FARM —
MR. OLIVER SEZ 'CAUSE I WAS CAREFUL AN' WORKED HARD AN' DIDN'T LET THE WEEDS OR BUGS OR ANYTHING HARM MY CARROTS, IT PROVES I'M A REAL FARMER
— AN' NOW HE'S GONNA LET ME GROW A FARM FULL OF MEDICINE — NOT MEDICINE IN BOTTLES AN' PILL BOXES — BUT THE HERBS AN' STUFF THAT THE MEDICINE IS MADE OUT OF — JUST THINK, ZERO — SOME SOLDIER WILL BE SICK OR WOUNDED AN' THE DOCTOR WILL SAY, "GIVE HIM SOME OF THAT MEDICINE FROM ANNIE ROONEY'S VICTORY FARM" — GEE, ZERO, AIN'T IT GRAND TO BE A MEDICINE FARMER!
LOOK, ZERO — TWO MORE LUCKY KIDS ARE ADOPTED — NOW, THEY GOT A FATHER AN' MOTHER, SO THEY'RE NOT ORPHANS ANY MORE
THEY'LL LIVE IN A HOUSE LIKE REGULAR KIDS DO AN' HAVE SOMEONE TO LOVE 'EM AN' TAKE CARE OF 'EM ALL THE TIME — AN' THEY WON'T HAVE ANYTHIN' TO WORRY 'BOUT AT ALL
'COURSE, YOU AN' ME ARE LUCKY TO BE LIVIN' HERE AT MR. OLIVER'S HOUSE — HE TREATS US SWELL AN' I JUST LOVE HIM LIKE ALL THE REST OF THE KIDS DO —
BUT I THINK THE MAN WHO WROTE THAT SWELL SONG, "BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE, THERE'S NO PLACE LIKE HOME," WAS RIGHT!
DARRELL McCLURE
MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS, ZERO — ALL MY MEDICINE SEED IS PLANTED ALREADY — REMEMBER WHEN WE WERE JUST LEARNIN' THE FARMIN' BUSINESS? —
IT TOOK ALMOST A WEEK JUST TO PLANT THE SEEDS THEN — I GUESS FARMIN' IS LIKE SWIMMIN' — WHEN YOU FIRST START TO LEARN, IT'S TERRIBLE HARD — BUT AFTER YOU LEARN HOW, IT'S EASY AN' YOU HAVE LOTSA FUN — 'CAUSE YOU GOT EXPERIENCE AN' CAN WORK TWICE AS FAST
USO
OH, ZERO — I GOTTA SWELL IDEA — I'M GONNA ASK MR. OLIVER TO LET ME HAVE TWO VICTORY FARMS — THEN I CAN DO TWICE AS MUCH TO HELP MY COUNTRY AS I'M DOIN' NOW —
WE ARE GATHERED TODAY FOR A GLORIOUS BIRTHDAY PARTY — TO PROUDLY CELEBRATE THE BIRTHDAY OF FREEDOM
WITH THE ENTIRE WORLD IN TURMOIL, WE REALIZE THE REAL MEANING OF THE WORD FREEDOM — THE MOST PRICELESS GIFT EVER BESTOWED ON MANKIND
WITHOUT FREEDOM ★ WEALTH, HOME, HAPPINESS, WOULD BE MEANINGLESS WORDS — WITHOUT FREEDOM ★ LOVE, LIFE, HONOR, EVERYTHING WE HOLD DEAR, WOULD BE OF SMALL VALUE — LET US SING OUR COUNTRY'S BIRTHDAY SONG
MY COUNTRY 'TIS OF THEE, SWEET LAND OF LIBERTY, OF THEE I SING —

TWINK has been writing to a soldier she's never seen-- AND HE'S NEVER SEEN HER--
AND WHEN HE ASKED FOR YOUR PICTURE··· YOU SENT HIM ONE OF ME?
SURE- YOU'RE SUPER!
I LOOK LIKE SOME THING THAT JUMPED OUT OF A PLANE N' THE PARACHUTE DIDNT OPEN!
BUT YOU'VE GOT OTHER ASSETS-- YOUR EYES···
THEY'RE LIQUID ASSETS-- A WATERY BLUE!
HOW ABOUT COOKING OR DANCING?
THAT'S IT-- DANCING! A BLACKOUT DANCE -- THEN HE COULDN'T SEE MY FACE!
BUT HOW'LL I KNOW HIM?
SILLY- BY THE PICTURE HE SENT YOU!
WHAT A MOB.! THE ONLY WAY I'LL FIND HER IS BY THIS PHOTO SHE SENT ME!
SHE WROTE TO HIM IN THE ARMY.! THE JOKE IS THEY'VE NEVER SEEN EACH OTHER!
LOVE IS A BLIND DATE!
SEE THAT THEY HAVE FUN!
WE'LL DO THE BLACK-OUT!
THE BLACKOUT!! IT'S NEW! SWELL FOR PARTIES! SEE HOW!
The BLACK-OUT!! a new dance! it's super for parties HERE'S THE RECIPE GATHER 'ROUND ME, PLAYMATES, TAKE A FEW FOOT-NOTES!
FIRST--PUT ARMBANDS ON ALL THE BOYS.! THEY'RE WARDENS!
NEXT, LINE UP THE INCENDIARY BOMBS, (GIRLS TO YOU)-- ON ONE SIDE
THE DEMOLITION SQUAD --(BOYS TO YOU) LINES UP ON THE OTHER THEN

To dance the BLACKOUT-- line the fire bombs up on on one side of the room-- the WARDENS on the other side -- then hot lips gives out with the siren--
BLACK-OUT the lights-- the boys make a rush for the girls-- or vice-versa--
E-E-E-K! HEY-MARGIE!
I CALL MY GAL BRIGHTEYES.! SHE HAS TO WEAR SMOKED-GLASSES IN A BLACKOUT!
To dance the BLACKOUT line up-- girls on one side, boys on other-- sound SIREN-- douse the lights--
THE RUSH IS ON FOR PARTNERS!
MUST BE A GOLD RUSH! I'M AFTER A BLONDE!
HOT LIPS gives out the ALL CLEAR - ··· the lights come on···· click!
in the scramble, some cookies found sugar, but this little piggie got none--
WHAT AM I SUPPOSED TO DO A TAP DANCE.?
During the BLACK-OUT, some boys don't find a partner in the rush--
WHO'M I GONNA WRESTLE WITH?
YOU'RE A CASUALTY! YOU LOSE YOUR ARM-BAND!
JEEPERS!
YOU CANT CUT IN ON ANY BOY WITH AN ARM-BAND-- THEY'RE WARDENS!
IF you're lucky and grab a partner in the next BLACK-OUT-- you'll get the band back--
POOR TWINK SHE'S STILL LOOKING FOR HER SOLDIER!
